Super Outreach Masterclass by Dan James

Made with GAMMA

House Keeping

1 Questions throughout of course!

My only ask is - when you ask your first question, say your name, what you sell and your potential no.1 constraint.

2 Want me to clarify something, just ask!

My schedule is clear so I'll stay all day if I have to!

3 This presentation is dense…

4 Group needs a break - let me know!

Made with GAMMA

I Have Nothing to Sell You!

There will be no pitch.

I am going to produce maximum value, help as much as I can & that's it.

Made with GAMMA

Table of Contents

1 Better Business Thinking

2 Key Business Metrics

3 Acquiring Customers

Made with GAMMA

Who Am I & Why Am I Qualified?

Dan James

Founder @ Thakos

(former agency - scaled with these methods)

- 30K+ a month in 60 days

Co-founder @ Lincko

- brand-new offer

D100 Coach in Client Ascension

- One of the biggest B2B coaching programs in the world

YouTube

I Taught 300+ People How to Si...

Book a meeting with your dream whale client in 30 days. Guaranteed....

Collection of All Social Proof Deck

Later I will show you one of my insane outreaches if you would like

Everyone in this room should create a deck of all their social proof. Caveats are e-com & other DTC businesses. But even then it cannot hurt to have a deck of people saying endless good stuff about you. I learnt this from a guy called Eric Nowloaski and he runs one of the biggest cold email agencies on earth.

Made with GAMMA

Better Business Thinking

Made with GAMMA

Why Is This Important?

- The odds of at least one person in this room, making one of these mistakes is 100%.
- If you continually make these mistakes, everything else will be completely irrelevant.
- You need to be doing the right tasks and actions to scale.
  This is why better business thinking is so pivotal.

For The Record:
I have made a TON OF THESE MISTAKES.
Not here to make anyone feel bad, here to call out mistakes I have made and seen from coaching nearing on THOUSANDS of people.

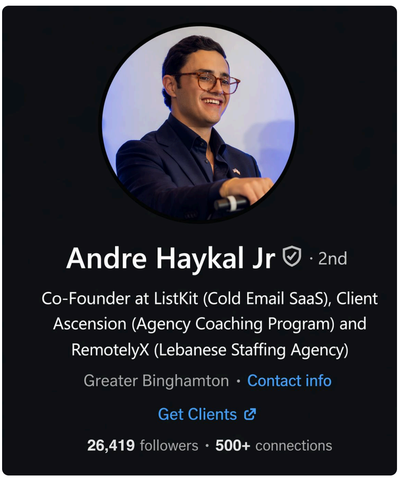

Made with GAMMA

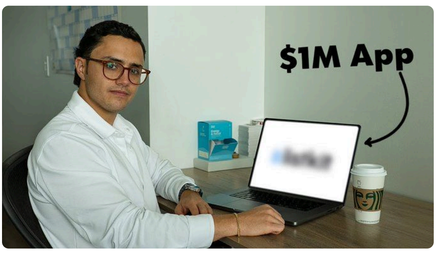

Mistake #1
Extreme Use of Ai for No Reason

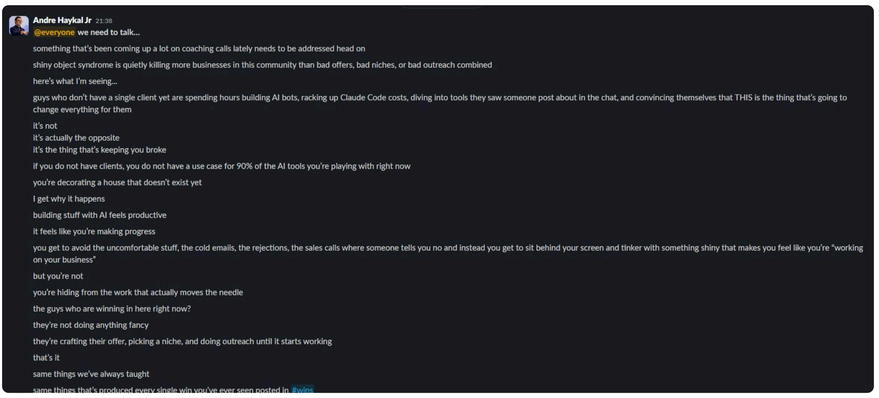

Made with GAMMA

Be Super Honest With Yourself Is This You…

Here's one of my mentors who makes 1.4 million dollars a month explaining why…

Andre Haykal Jr 21:28
@everyone we need to talk... something that's been coming up a lot on coaching calls lately needs to be addressed head on shiny object syndrome is quietly killing more businesses in this community than bad offers, bad niches, or bad outreach combined here's what I'm seeing... guys who don't have a single client yet are spending hours building AI bots, racking up Claude Code costs, diving into tools they saw someone post about in the chat, and convincing themselves that THIS is the thing that's going to change everything for them it's not it's actually the opposite it's the thing that's keeping you broke if you do not have clients, you do not have a use case for 90% of the AI tools you're playing with right now you're decorating a house that doesn't exist yet
I get why it happens building stuff with AI feels productive it feels like you're making progress you get to avoid the uncomfortable stuff, the cold emails, the rejections, the sales calls where someone tells you no and instead you get to sit behind your screen and tinker with something shiny that makes you feel like you're "working on your business" but you're not you're hiding from the work that actually moves the needle the guys who are winning in here right now?
they're not doing anything fancy they're crafting their offer, picking a niche, and doing outreach until it starts working that's it same things we've always taught same things that's produced every single win you've ever seen posted in #wins

@everyone we need to talk… something that's been coming up a lot on coaching calls lately needs to be addressed head on. Shiny object syndrome is quietly killing more businesses in this community than bad offers, bad niches, or bad outreach combined. Here's what I'm seeing… guys who don't have a single client yet are spending hours building AI bots, racking up Claude Code costs, diving into tools they saw someone post about in the chat, and convincing themselves that THIS is the thing that's going to change everything for them. It's not. It's actually the opposite. It's the thing that's keeping you broke. If you do not have clients, you do not have a use case for 90% of the AI tools you're playing with right now. You're decorating a house that doesn't exist yet. I get why it happens. Building stuff with AI feels productive. It feels like you're making progress. You get to avoid the uncomfortable stuff — the cold emails, the rejections, the sales calls where someone tells you no — and instead you get to sit behind your screen and tinker with something shiny that makes you feel like you're "working on your business." But you're not. You're hiding from the work that actually moves the needle. The guys who are winning in here right now? They're not doing anything fancy. They're crafting their offer, picking a niche, and doing outreach until it starts working. That's it. Same things we've always taught. Same things that's produced every single win you've ever seen posted in #wins. Nobody cares that you spent 3 days building 7 agents to send an email LOL. Go build a real product that solves a real problem and get people to pay you for it. Now, does AI matter for agency owners? Absolutely. There's plenty of use cases like building landing pages faster, ad creative production at scale, client reporting, creating personalized onboarding experiences, AI search optimization, lead magnet creation, client briefs, etc. These are use cases that make an existing business more efficient. They speed up delivery for clients you already have. Keywords: ALREADY HAVE. There is a time and a place for all of this, and that time is after you have revenue, after you have clients coming in, after you've built something real. So here's the filter I want you to run on every tool, every post, every shiny new thing that crosses your feed from now on: does this speed up my process of getting clients and delivering on them? If YES, use it. If NO, ignore it completely. But realize this: you have everything you need in this program — the coaching calls, the dedicated success coach, a full suite of AI tools in the dashboard, the 200+ trainings in Kajabi, a community of winners. Stop overcomplicating this. Stop looking for shortcuts around the uncomfortable work: outreach & sales. That IS the work. And it compounds the exact same way I talked about in my last post about the challenge. One more D100. One more cold email. One more cold call. One more sales call. That's what separates the people who WIN from the people who spent six months tinkering with AI and wondering why nothing changed. THE BASICS COMPOUND. THE SHINY OBJECTS DON'T. Now go execute.

What's His Point?

Using ai for the sake of it will not make you any money.
You are not an engineer, you are not a tech founder.
You are not systemizing a process that doesn't exist yet.
Your job is to get CUSTOMERS. That. Is. It.

Made with GAMMA

How Do We Best Use Ai

Use Ai to help you solve the actual constraint of the business.

Not building for the sake of it...

Good Examples of Ai Use

Using Ai to make content

Using Ai to make ads

Using Ai to help onboard new customers

Using Ai to do outreach

The Test You Must Run

1

You see a problem

2

Analyse if this is a real constraint

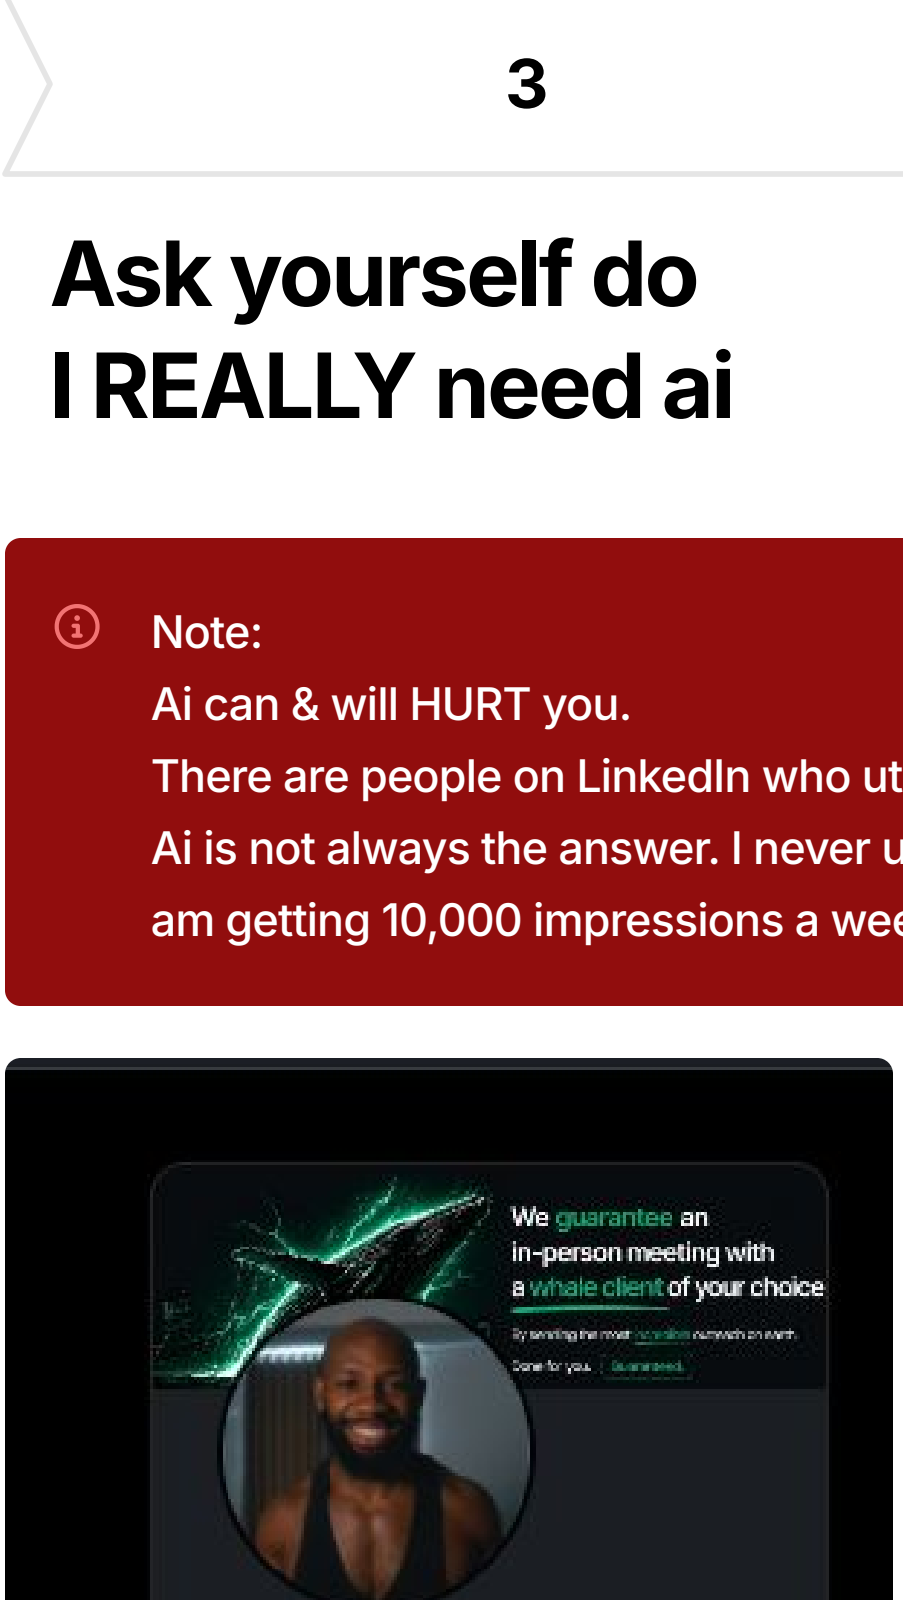

3

Ask yourself do I REALLY need ai

4

Use ai to solve that one problem

Note:
Ai can & will HURT you.
There are people on LinkedIn who utilise Ai and are getting worse results by using it.
Ai is not always the answer. I never use ai on my linkedin posts and with just 1200 followers I am getting 10,000 impressions a week and growing.

Made with GAMMA

Mistake #2
Not Working On Your No.1 Constraint

Made with GAMMA

What's A Constraint Dude?

Business constraint definition:

The #1 business constraint is the single, primary obstacle (or bottleneck) silently capping your company's growth, revenue, or efficiency

Why Does This Matter?

According to the Theory of Constraints, trying to optimize everything at once is a waste of time; breakthrough growth comes from identifying and fixing that one weakest link in your chain.

Instagram

Alex Hormozi on Instagram: "The most common constraint ...

4,076 likes, 90 comments - hormozi on January 15, 2026: "The most common constraint for business growth isn't access to capital but...

What's Your No.1 Constraint?

Note:

Although Alex Hormozi just said no to this, it is actually okay to not know. We are learning at different rates here.

I'll go first...

You Likely Have The Same Constraint As Everyone Else...

What Not To Do

Please do not... :)

- change your landing page

Please do not... :)

- mess around with ai

Please do not... :)

- do anything but solve for your no.1 constraint. please I beg, I am already bald

Examples of Constraints

- Supply constrained = unable to service as many customers
- Demand constrained = no one is booking calls
- Demand constrained = no one is responding to my outreach
- Operationally constrained = our system breaks when we scale

If you don't know what your constrain is, it's demand constrained.

Made with GAMMA

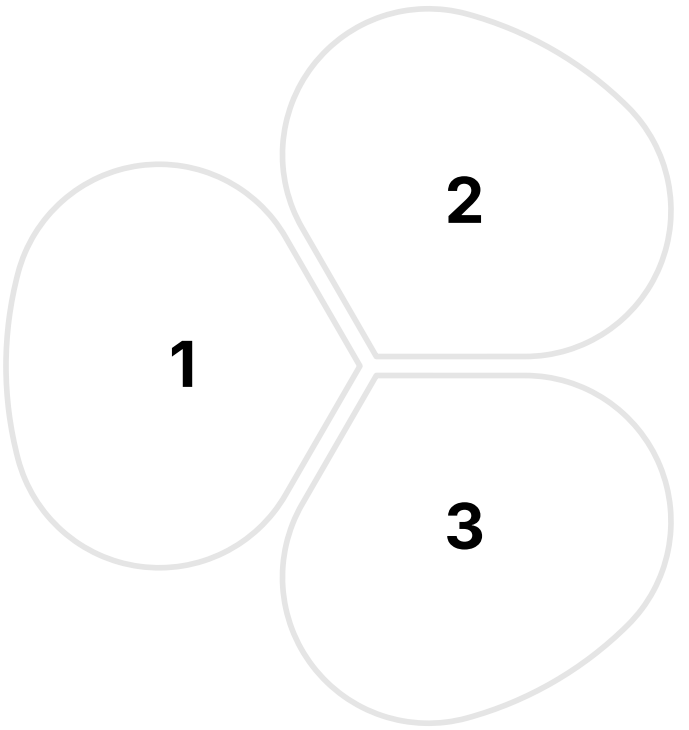

Mistake #3
Not Putting In The Work

Made with GAMMA

Scaling Is Hard Work & Especially Outreach...

Ads Is Hard Work

- Having new creatives
- Testing new angles
- Tweaking offers
- Improving your ROAS

Outreach Is Hard Work

- Following up
- Facing rejection
- Improving your offer
- Learning copywriting

Content Is Hard Work

- Sitting on camera
- Coming up with new angles
- Being okay when no one watches

Let's run a poll:

- Who here has posted more than 10 long form videos on YouTube this year?
- Who here has done more than 400 pieces of outreach this year?
- Who here has posted more than 50 short form videos on Instagram or TikTok this year?

Made with GAMMA

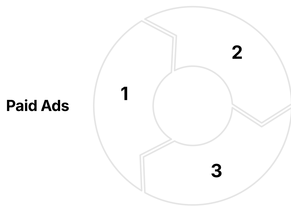

Better Business Thinking Part 2

Made with GAMMA

There Are Only 3 Ways To Get Customers In Any Business

Made with GAMMA

These Are The Only Ways Ever

Outbound

- Cold email
- Cold DMs

Inbound

- Content
- In-person
- Brick & mortar

What Do You Do?

This is dependent upon:

- Your capital
- Your ticket size

Examples:

1 B2B Agency = Marina

Offer: Helping coaches build the most incredible events in Bali so they can sign 3+ clients guaranteed or they get a full refund
Ticket size: $1500+
Client Acquisition Methods: Content & Outreach

2 B2B Agency = Jessica Drake

Offer: Helping coaches build awesome webinars in 90 days, that leads to an extra $10,000 guaranteed. Or you get a refund.
Ticket size: $3,000+
Client Acquisition Methods: Content & Outreach

3 B2B Agency = Triine Virmann → Same for Edgar Stuvier

Offer: Helping online coaches doing at least $50,000/mo with brilliant ai processes that saves them time & money. Fully launched in 60 days.
Ticket size: $5,000+
Client Acquisition Methods: Content, Outreach & Ads

4 B2C Wellness Business = Ellen

Offer: Helping busy and overworked people to find more peace in just 2 months, through my holistic wellness program. 100% guaranteed satisfaction refund-policy.
Ticket size: $400+
Client Acquisition Methods: Content (eventually Ads)

ⓘ Do people want me to do create offers for the people who were left out?

When Outreach, When Ads & When Content?

Content = EVERY. SINGLE. TIME. NO EXCEPTIONS EVER. I DO NOT WANT TO HEAR IT.

Outreach = It depends on the ticket size. The larger the ticket size the more important outreach is. You can shoot for 1.5K and up as a very rough estimate.

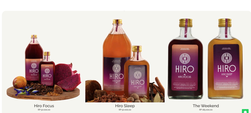

Ads = What is your cost to acquire a customer (CAC)? Are you B2B or B2C?

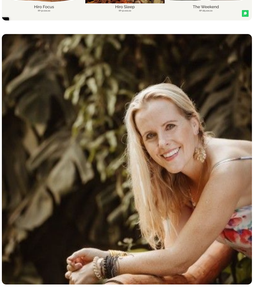

B2B:CAC = $800 - $8,000 (sometimes it can be far higher too)
B2C:CAC = $1 - $800

Why can the B2C person run ads?

It is simply cheaper.
If they have a CAC of 50 dollars and spend 500 dollars they will get 10 customers.
If the B2B person spends 500 dollars they will acquire no one...

Let's do one last example

So let's take Catherine:

- Her ticket size is too small to do outreach
- But her CAC is probably 15 or so USD
- She can run ads and do content!

ⓘ Caveat:
Maybe Catherine does outreach to major events and wants to be the large sponsor. The LTV is say 40,000 USD. Outreach makes perfect sense.
But she is going to sell 4,000 bottles. The ticket price has increased dramatically.

Made with GAMMA

You MUST Make Content

Made with GAMMA

Please Don't Make Me Lose More Hair...

In 2026 people are willing and happy to

- talk about how their marital issues social media
- talk about their family drama on social media
- tell the world, their deepest secrets social media

You need to get on camera to market your business - people do it for free and sometimes at the detriment of their lives. You are being paid!

Why Is This Important?

1. When you do outreach people will search you immediately
2. It will build trust and thus decrease your cost to acquire a customer (CAC)
3. Consulting deals and opportunities
4. You are by default an internet scammer until people see your face
5. It will make all other forms of client acquisition better

Made with GAMMA

Examples of Content

DTC/E-com Brand

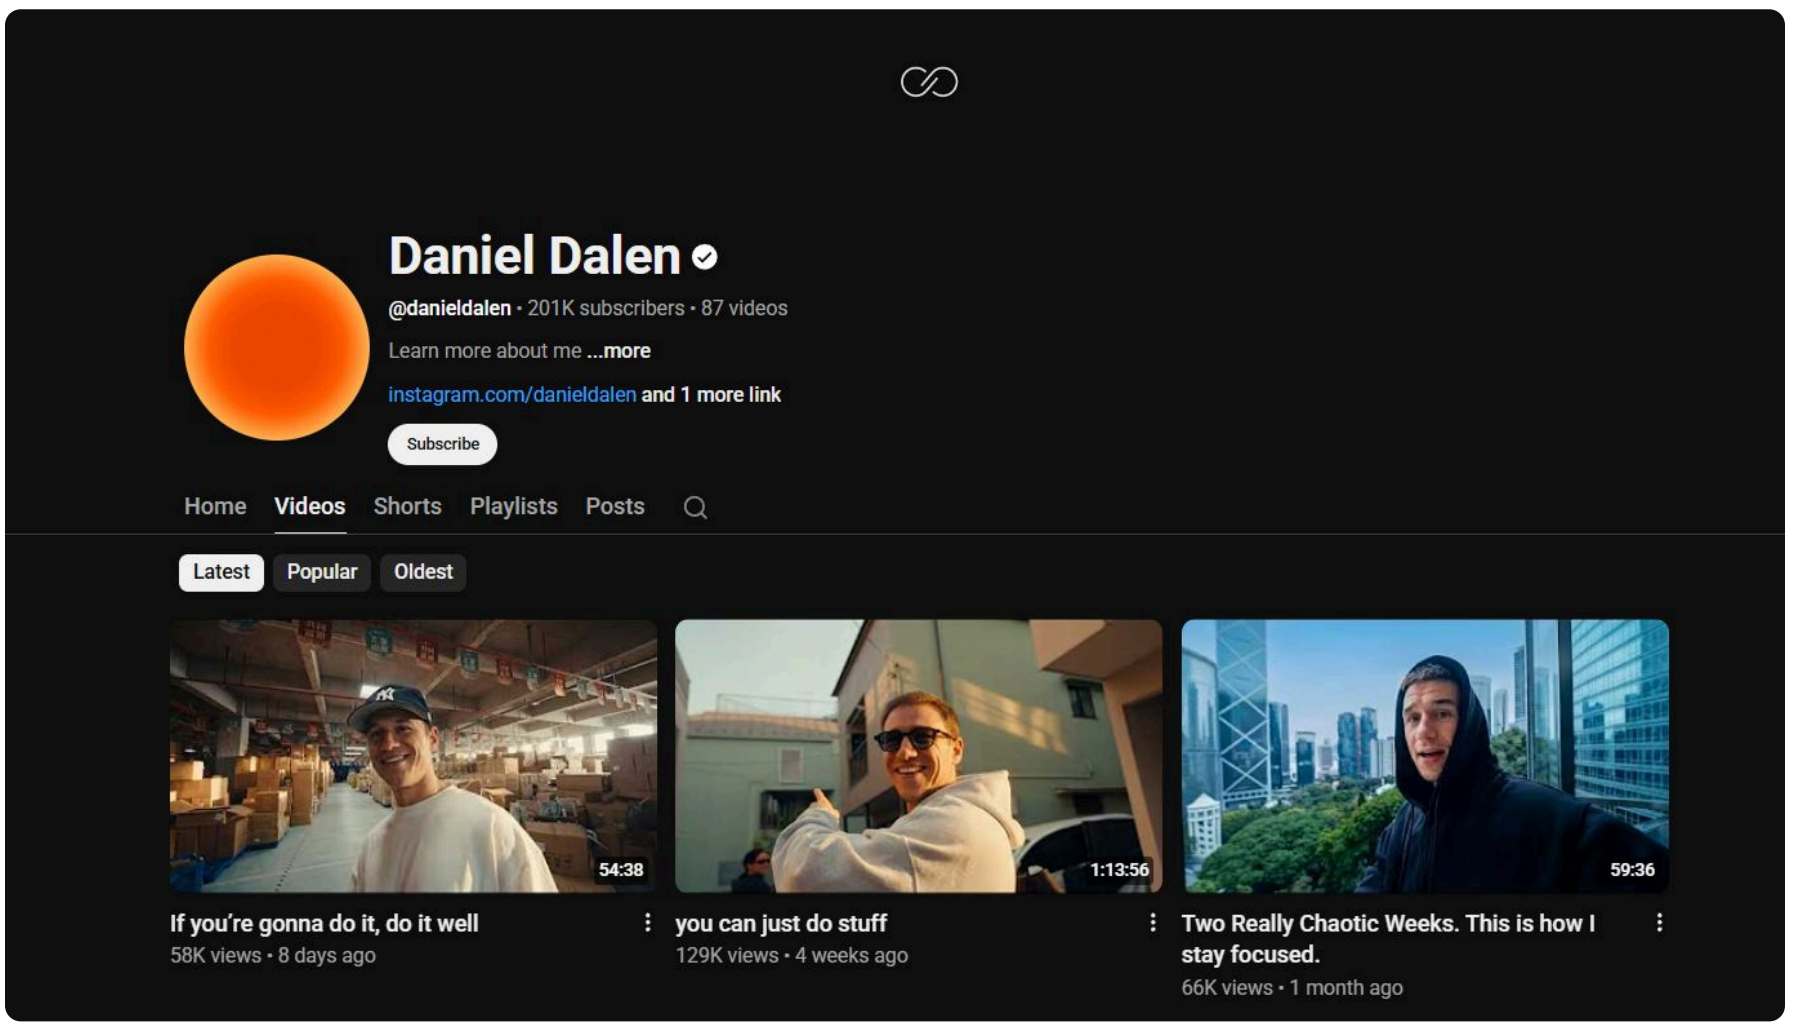

Content Buckets: Instagram & Youtube

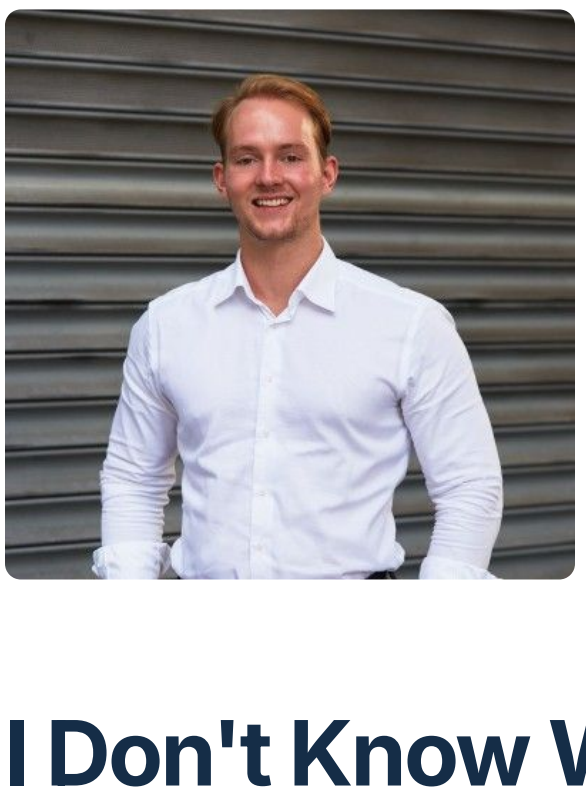

- UGC
  - People drinking Hiro in Bali in beautiful locations
  - People drinking Hiro naturally
  - People talking about how amazing they felt after
- Product Photos
  - Hiro looking beautiful in Bali
- Founder led content (building in public)
  - Catherine sharing updates about the business
  - Catherine telling us how Hiro helped her life

Best Example Ever of Building In Public

This guy runs a brand in China helping ecom brands scale, he shares what's going on and people LOVE IT. I don't even watch his content and know about him...

B2B Agency

Content Buckets: YouTube & LinkedIn

- Case study interviews
- Latest ai trends
- Automations he built for clients and the result of it

I Don't Know What To Make...

Copy someone.

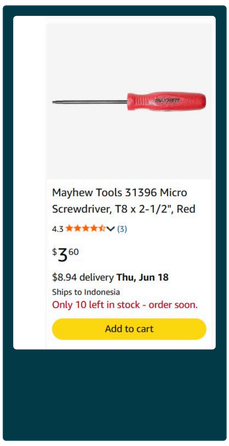

Made with GAMMA

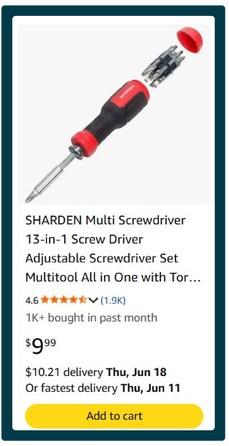

Everyone needs to be getting maximum social proof

Showing people you can ACTUALLY get results is mandatory

1 People want to reduce their risk 2 Builds massive trust

Which one are you buying?

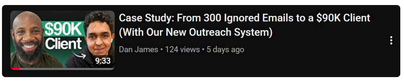

Types of social proof

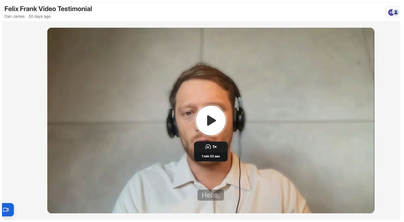

1

Video client interviews

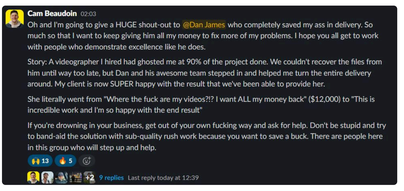

2

Video client testimonials

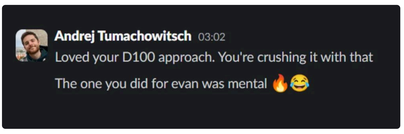

3

Written testimonials Or (Reviews for e-com & DTC)

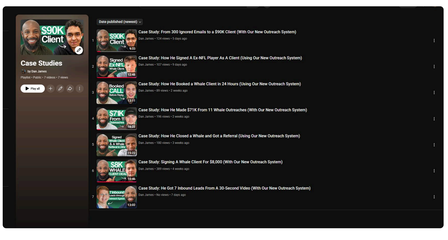

4

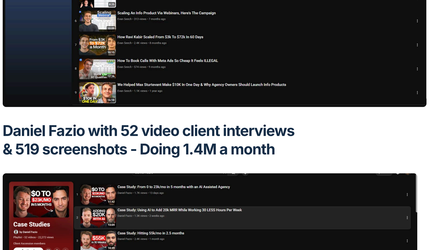

Screenshot wins

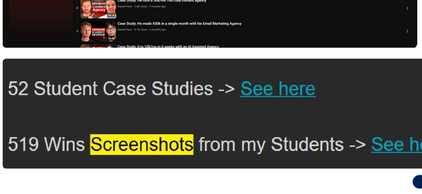

Me with 7 video client interviews - Doing 40k a month

Evan Seech with 9 video client interviews - Doing 200K a month

Daniel Fazio with 52 video client interviews & 519 screenshots - Doing 1.4M a month

52 Student Case Studies -> See here

519 Wins Screenshots from my Students -> See here

Made with GRAVITAS

You Must Have A Good Offer

Made with GAMMA

What Is An Offer

An offer is a clear stated benefit that someone gets from going through your service.

Edgar DOES NOT make ai automations. He gives business owners stress free business and scaling.

Marina DOES NOT put on events. She helps coaches get 5 extra clients.

Giorgi DOES NOT teach people ads. He helps people get new clients with ads.

Adriane DOES NOT teach people dating. She helps people find their perfect partner and live a dream life.

Examples

- Dating Offer: Helping young men from 25-40 find their dream partner without having to approach in person. Guaranteed in 90 days or you get a refund.
- Fitness Offer: Helping pregnant women lose 30 pounds in 90 days or they get a full refund.
- Lead Gen Offer: We Guarantee A Meeting With A Whale Client Of Your Choice By Sending The Most Incredible Creative Outbound On Earth. Done for you. Refund if we miss.

Why Is This Important?

It's about them! Not about you!
Have you ever been on a date and had the other person talk about themselves the whole time? That's what a ton of people's headlines are...

In A New Market, Do It Anyways!

How do we do it?

STEAL people's offers

Seriously do it.

Scared of refunds?

- Stipulations in contract
- Even if you get 50% more sales and 3-8% refunds who cares you netted so much more money!

Made with GAMMA

Your Client Is The Hero In Your Marketing & Messaging

Made with GAMMA

Marina I am sorry...

Marina has said to me, 'I am a super connector, I connect people in Bali, I put on events to connect'.

All of these statements is about her.

She is the, hero, director and producer of that story.

But nobody will take out their credit card and buy.

Instead make it about your customer.

Talk about how you help others

Instead... you can say...

'Coaches with your expertise need to be able to speak to people and share what you know. I want to help share your best lessons to an audience, because I know it will be super helpful. I'll also curate the room so it's your ideal customer too so we can get you some clients'.

In this scenario - Marina's customer is the hero not her.

Made with GAMMA

Set Targets & Stick To Them Like Your Life Depends On It

Made with GAMMA

Business Is A List of Inputs

I hate going to the gym.

I despise it but I have gone for 14 years.

But I am in great shape because I go 5 times a week no questions asked.

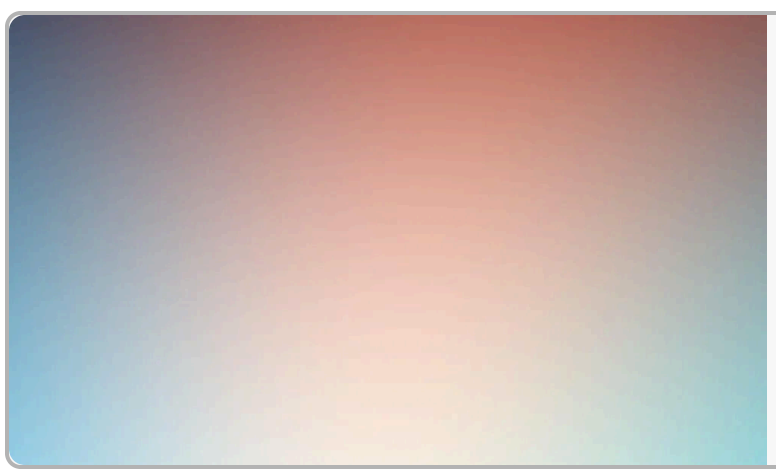

Your business has a list of targets that are similar.

Tracker I Use

app.notion.com

Loading...

just in case above doesn't work water-oriole-062 on Notion

CA Tracker | Notion

Hosted by Notion Sites — The easiest way to get a website up and running.

Metrics

Daily 30-Minute Sales Training

7 LinkedIn Posts Per Week

3 YouTube Videos Per Week

3 Emails Per Week

▸ Modifiers

If you want this tracker just ask me!

Made with GAMMA

Key Business Metrics

Made with GAMMA

Please do not switch off, this is ultimately the fundamentals of what business really is! :)

Made with GAMMA

Your Metrics Exist Whether You Like It Or Not...

Why Are Your Metrics Important?

Because they tell you everything about your business and its ability to scale.

How To Learn Metrics

> Literally go to ai and say, I want to learn key business metrics can you help me please? Practice it for 2 months you will be an accountant.

When I wanted to learn enterprise metrics and unit econimcs in depth. I gave my requirements to ChatGPT and learnt it so quickly. It created a 700 page book for me. With examples from my business. It was amazing.

Made with GAMMA

Metrics That Are Your Friends

Lifetime Value (LTV)

Purpose: Measures the total revenue generated by a customer over their lifespan.

Formula: LTV = average monthly revenue x customer lifespan

Example: $10,000 = $1,000 × 10 months

Cost of Goods Sold (COGS)

Purpose: Measures how much it costs to fulfil a customer

Formula: COGS = Total cost of servicing customer

Example: $4,000 = $1,000 (staff) + $1,000 (management) + $2,000 (onboarding)

Lifetime Gross Profit (LTGP)

Purpose: Measures the total gross profit generated by a customer across their lifespan after variable costs.

Formula: LTGP = Lifetime Revenue – Lifetime COGS

Example: $6,000 = $10,000 - $4,000

Customer Acquisition Cost (CAC)

Purpose: Measures how much it costs to acquire one customer.

Formula: CAC = Sales + Marketing / New Customers

Example: $2,000 = $50,000 (cost) / $25 (new customers)

LTGP : CAC Ratio

Purpose: Measures how much lifetime gross profit is generated for every dollar spent acquiring customers.

Formula: LTGP : CAC

Example: 12,000 / 3,000 = 4:1

Net Profit

Purpose: Measures final profit remaining after all business expenses.

Formula: Net Profit = Revenue - Total Expenses

Example: 100,000−85,000=15,000

Churn

Purpose: Measures the percentage of customers lost during a given period.

Formula: Churn = Customers Lost / Starting Customers (Over A Time Period)

Example: 5% churn for a month = 10/200

Made with GAMMA

What Are Your Gross Margins?

Gross Profit

Purpose: Measures the profit remaining after direct delivery costs.

Formula: Gross Profit=Revenue−COGS

Example: 100,000−40,000=60,000

What Gross Profit Tells You:

Shows how efficiently the business delivers its product or service before overhead and operating expenses.

Typical Costs Included In COGS:

- fulfillment
- delivery labor
- hosting costs
- production costs
- support directly tied to delivery
- software infrastructure
- contractor fulfillment

Why Gross Profit Matters:

Higher gross profit generally means:

- stronger margins
- more cash available for reinvestment
- better scalability
- greater operating leverage

Made with GAMMA

Are Your Gross Margins 80%?

Net Margin = Profit after all costs are deducted

Gross Margin = Profit after costs of servicing a customer

Why Does This Matter?

Example

$6,000	$2,000	4,000
Revenue	Fulfillment Cost	Gross Profit

Gross Margin = 40/60 = 66%

Sounds decent right?

But: 66% gross margin is weak for many service businesses.

Example

100k	34k	66k	66%
Revenue	Fulfillment Cost	Gross Profit	Gross Margin

54k	12k	12%
Operating Costs	Net Profit	Net Margin

100k	20k	80k	80%
Revenue	Fulfillment Cost	Gross Profit	Gross Margin

54k	26k	26%
Operating Costs	Net Profit	Net Margin

The Key Insight

You need gross margins to cover the rest of your costs. More than 2x profit from improving margins alone. Gross margin is one of the biggest drivers of business quality and scalability.

I Can't Get To 80% Gross Margins...

Improve your offer, brand and authority.

If you have a commoditized service, then for sure you can't.

This is why content, authority, brand and positioning are so important.

And why you need to be brandmaxxing like crazy.

Made with GAMMA

Reduce Your Churn ASAP

Churn

Purpose: Measures the percentage of customers lost during a given period.

Formula: Churn = Customers Lost / Starting Customers (Over A Time Period)

Example: 5% churn for a month = 10/200

Retention Compounds

Acquisition happens once.

Retention compounds over time.

Every additional month a customer stays:

increases revenue	increases gross profit	increases cash flow
raises LTGP	makes you happier

Churn To Months Calculator

Monthly Churn	Approx Customer Lifespan
50%	2 months
25%	4 months
20%	5 months
10%	10 months
5%	20 months
3%	33 months
2%	50 months
1%	100 months

Example

50%	2	5K	10K
Churn	no. of months	Revenue	Lifetime Value

4K	6K
Fulfil Costs	Gross Profit

10%	10	5K	50k
Churn	no. of months	Revenue	Lifetime Value

20K	30K
Fulfil Costs	Gross Profit

You literally did nothing more, you just continued to service them...

Made with GAMMA

Why LTGP & CAC Matter So Much

The Two Numbers That Control A Business

Almost every scalable business can be understood through two core metrics:

- LTGP = Lifetime Gross Profit
- CAC = Customer Acquisition Cost

These two numbers determine:

- whether a business grows or dies
- whether growth creates cash or destroys it
- whether scale becomes easier or harder
- whether the company compounds or collapses

Customer Acquisition Cost (CAC)

Purpose: Measures how much it costs to acquire one customer.

Formula: CAC = Sales + Marketing / New Customers

Example: $2,000 = $50,000 (cost) / $25 (new customers)

Lifetime Gross Profit (LTGP)

Purpose: Measures the total gross profit generated by a customer across their lifespan after variable costs.

Formula: LTGP = Lifetime Revenue – Lifetime COGS

Example: $6,000 = $10,000 - $4,000

Why These Metrics Matter Together

CAC alone means nothing.

LTGP alone means nothing.

What matters is the relationship between them.

Because the entire business question becomes:

> Can we acquire customers for less than the gross profit they generate over time?

That is the economic engine of modern business.

Poor Business

1K	5K	3K	2K
CAC	Lifetime Value	Lifetime COGS	Lifetime Gross Profit

LTGP : CAC = 2000 : 1000 = 2 : 1

Very little room for:

- payroll
- operations
- support
- software
- taxes
- profit

The business grows...

But barely creates cash.

This is why many “high revenue” businesses still struggle financially.

Strong Business

2K	20K	4K	16K
CAC	Lifetime Value	Lifetime COGS	Lifetime Gross Profit

LTGP : CAC = 16000 : 20000 = 8 : 1

Now the economics change completely.

The business can:

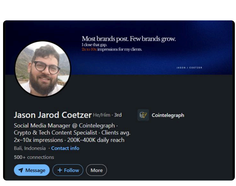

- outspend competitors
- reinvest aggressively
- survive CAC inflation
- hire sales teams
- scale ads
- dominate markets

This is why elite businesses become hard to compete against.

Which means they can now do more:

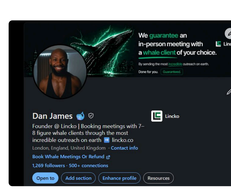

Content Ads & Outreach than everyone.

Ask the room if they want to learn about ethical monopolies?

Jason Metrics

CAC = 1,000 USD
LTGP = 94,000 USD

Dan's Metrics

CAC = 1,000 USD
LTGP = 5,000 USD

Jason can spend WAY MORE MONEY TO GET CUSTOMERS THAN ME.

He literally could give less of a flying fk about spending 20K because he is going to make 94,000 USD total as a result.

He can spend way more money to get customers than me.

He will spend more on ads, content, outreach everything.

I literally cannot compete with him.

And if his payback period is faster, he will literally put me out of business...

Made with GAMMA

How To Decrease Your CAC

1. Better Offers
2. Brand
3. Higher Authority
4. Affiliate Programs
5. Better Targeting

Made with GAMMA

How To Increase Your LTGP

Increase Price

Business A

2K	1K	1K
Price	COGS	Gross Profit

Business B

5K	1K	4K
Price	COGS	Gross Profit

Decrease COGS

Business A

2K	1K	1K
Price	COGS	Gross Profit

Business B

2K	$100	1.9K
Price	COGS	Gross Profit

Increase Purchase Frequency

Catherine has people buy drinks once a day instead of once a week.

Cross Sells

Catherine has people buy Hiro Focus & Hiro Sleep

Up Sells

Edgar upgrades someone from the 1k package to the 10k package.

Down Sells (if they weren't going to buy at all)

Jessica has someone buy her low ticket 2k package instead of nothing at all.

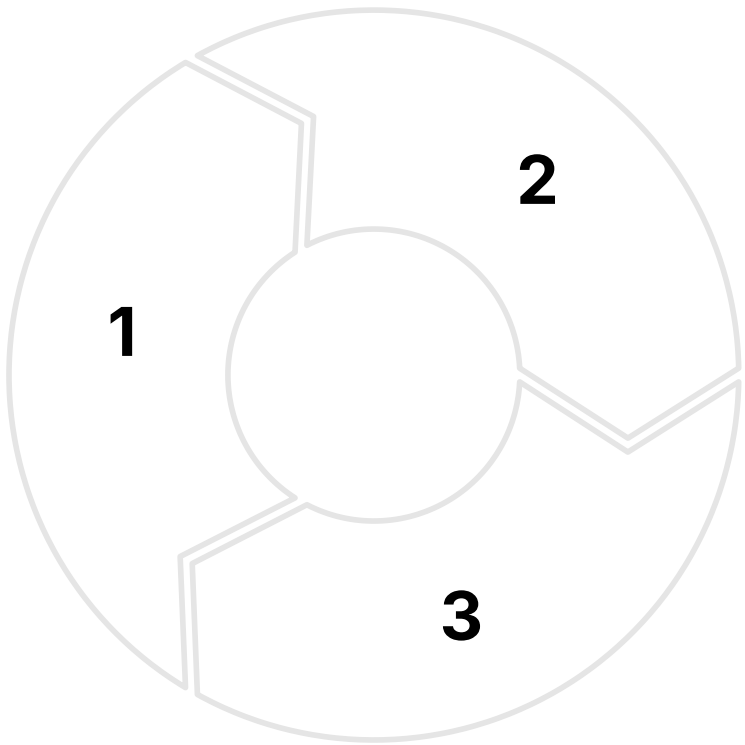

Made with GAMMA

Acquiring Customers

Made with GAMMA

You Have Only 3 Weapons...

Like we spoke about earlier... you only have 3 weapons.

Paid Ads

Outbound

- Cold email
- Cold DMs

Inbound

- Content
- In-person
- Brick & mortar

(Recap) When Outreach, When Ads & When Content?

Content = EVERY. SINGLE. TIME. NO EXCEPTIONS EVER. I DO NOT WANT TO HEAR IT.

Outreach = It depends on the ticket size. The larger the ticket size the more important outreach is. You can shoot for 1.5K & up really as a rough estimate.

Ads = What is your cost to acquire a customer (CAC)? Are you B2B or B2C?

B2B:CAC = $800 - $8,000 (sometimes it can be far higher too)
B2C:CAC = $1 - $800

This presentation is (finally) about how to do better Outbound!

- Triine
- Jason
- Jessica
- Giorgi
- Marc
- Edgar
- Robert
- Marina

ⓘ I am 100% sure that all of you guys can do outbound.

Made with GAMMA

Every Outreach is Pulling On These Two Levers

In every outreach there are two levers that you are pulling:

1 Attention

Unless you want to scam people - you need to get their attention in order to sell to them.

- Getting them to notice you

2 Expertise

In order for someone to give you money you need to have a product or service (B2B) worth paying for.

- Your offer
- Authority

Your Outreach Is Failing Because 1 Of These 2 Issues

Yes there are other factors:

- The list
- Timing

But since these are other topics entirely - we are going to assume ceteris paribus.

Made with GAMMA

Depending On Who The Prospect Is We Will Play With Each Lever

Expertise	Attention
• Normal prospect	• Extremely high authority prospect
• High volume outreach	• Very high LTV
	• Low volume outreach

Everyone On Earth Leads With Expertise

Examples:

- 100,000 emails to a list
- Classic rubbish DM outreach
- Cold calling to everyone on earth

> Can you sign Alex Hormozi or Cole Gordon from these tactics?
> Absolutely not.

So Firstly You Must Understand What Lever You Are Pulling

If you fail to understand why you are pulling that lever - you will never be able to sign all types of clients.

Made with GAMMA

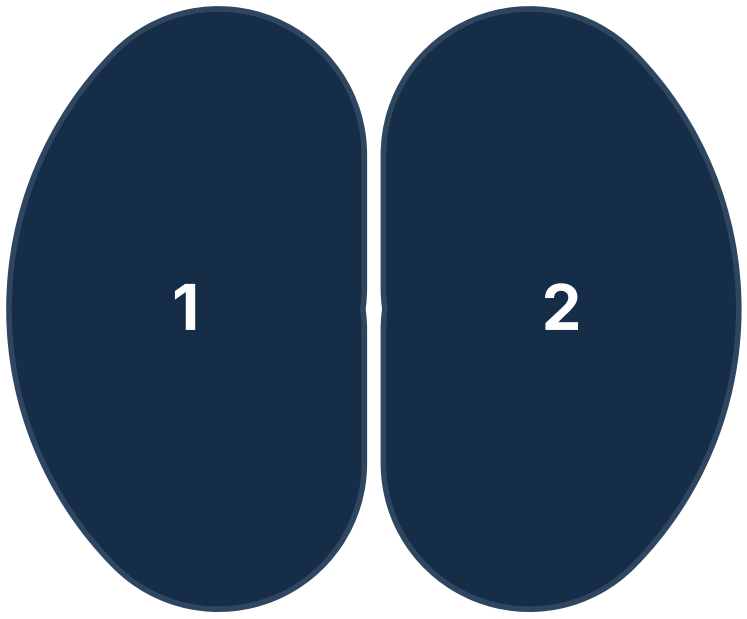

Outreach Laws

1. Your prospect only cares about themselves
2. All of the money is in the follow-up
3. Respond immediately to a new message or opt-in
4. Lead them to the next natural step

Made with GAMMA

How Does Outreach Work in 2026?

Insane Amount of Value

Incredible Offer

Examples of Insane Amount of Value:

- Strategy doc
- Super looms
- Physical goods

ⓘ I will explain what those mean shortly!

Examples of An Incredible Offer:

- Helping coaches build the most incredible events in Bali so they can sign 3+ clients guaranteed or they get a full refund ⓘ Doing anything between is a complete waste of time!

Made with GAMMA

Use No-Brainer Offers

You can create EVEN better offers to get your foot in the door:

Examples:

Triine Viirman → I'll set up your first automation for free

Jessica Drake → We can do 10 webinars and the first one is on me

Adriane Venus → I'll happily give you 1 free session to see if you like it

Note:

In order for them to get your no-brainer offer you must set strict terms. For example, they have to hop on an initial call and then another call after you do some work for them. If they don't follow YOUR conditions exactly they do not qualify.
Those are the rules.

Made with GAMMA

Outreach 101

1

Pattern Interrupts

Think what your prospect has been through.
100s of 1000s of rubbish pitches.
Make the prospect stop & think.
The last thing we want to do is be grouped in the bucket of terrible pitches just like everyone else.

2

Separate Yourself From The Pack

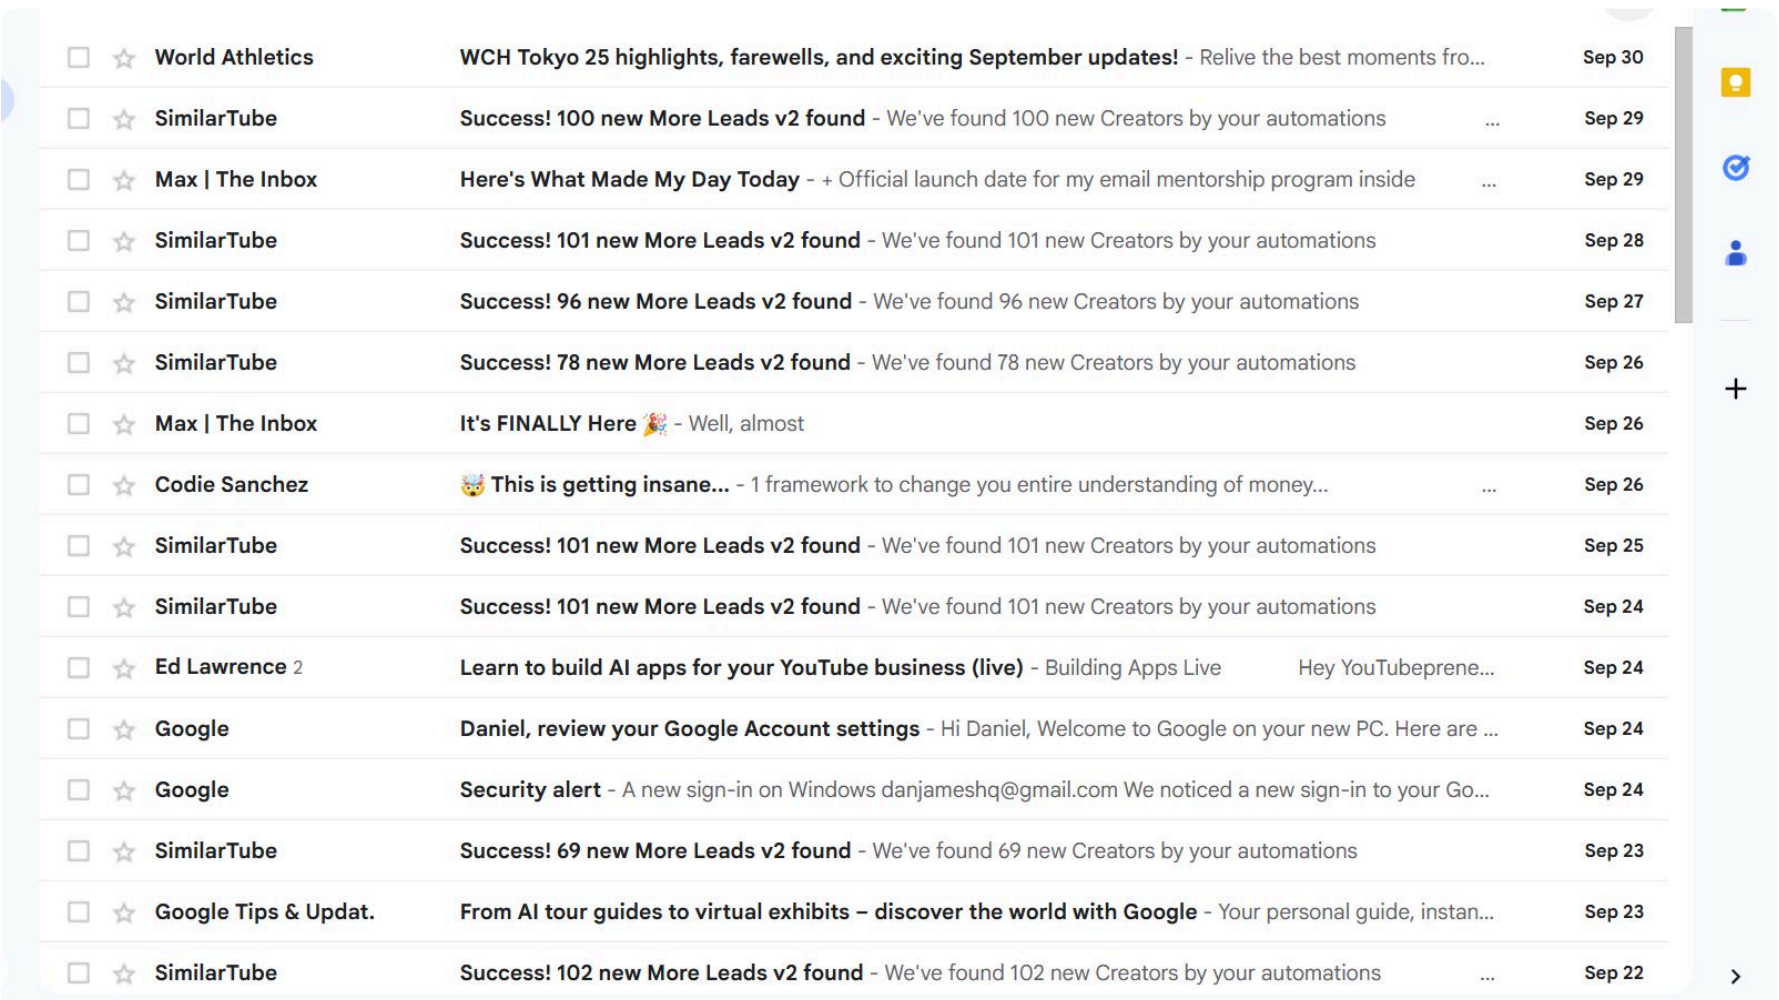

Your D100 is highly unique.
You are doing something that literally NO ONE else is doing.
So you need to make that very clear in your email as well.
Imagine you have done all this hard work & they don't even realise that you are putting in 10X the effort to everyone else.
Total shame.

3

Make The Prospect Think

If the prospect thinks the pitch is like everyone else, they will not continue to read.
If the prospect has to ACTUALLY read the email to decipher whether it is the same then they will keep reading and get deeper in.

- Think of the example of a homeless man...
- Look at my inbox

Made with GAMMA

DMs Vs. Email

Email

- Anyone can send
- Everyone checks their email multiple times a day
- You can follow up forever

DMs

- They will IMMEDIATLY check your profile - need an optimized social media profile
- You have far less chances to follow up before you get permanently ignored or blocked
- Potentially get access to bigger people as they will check their DMs

When to do DMs?

- You have a strong optimized profile
- The prospect is most active or exclusively active on that platform
- You have exhausted other channels

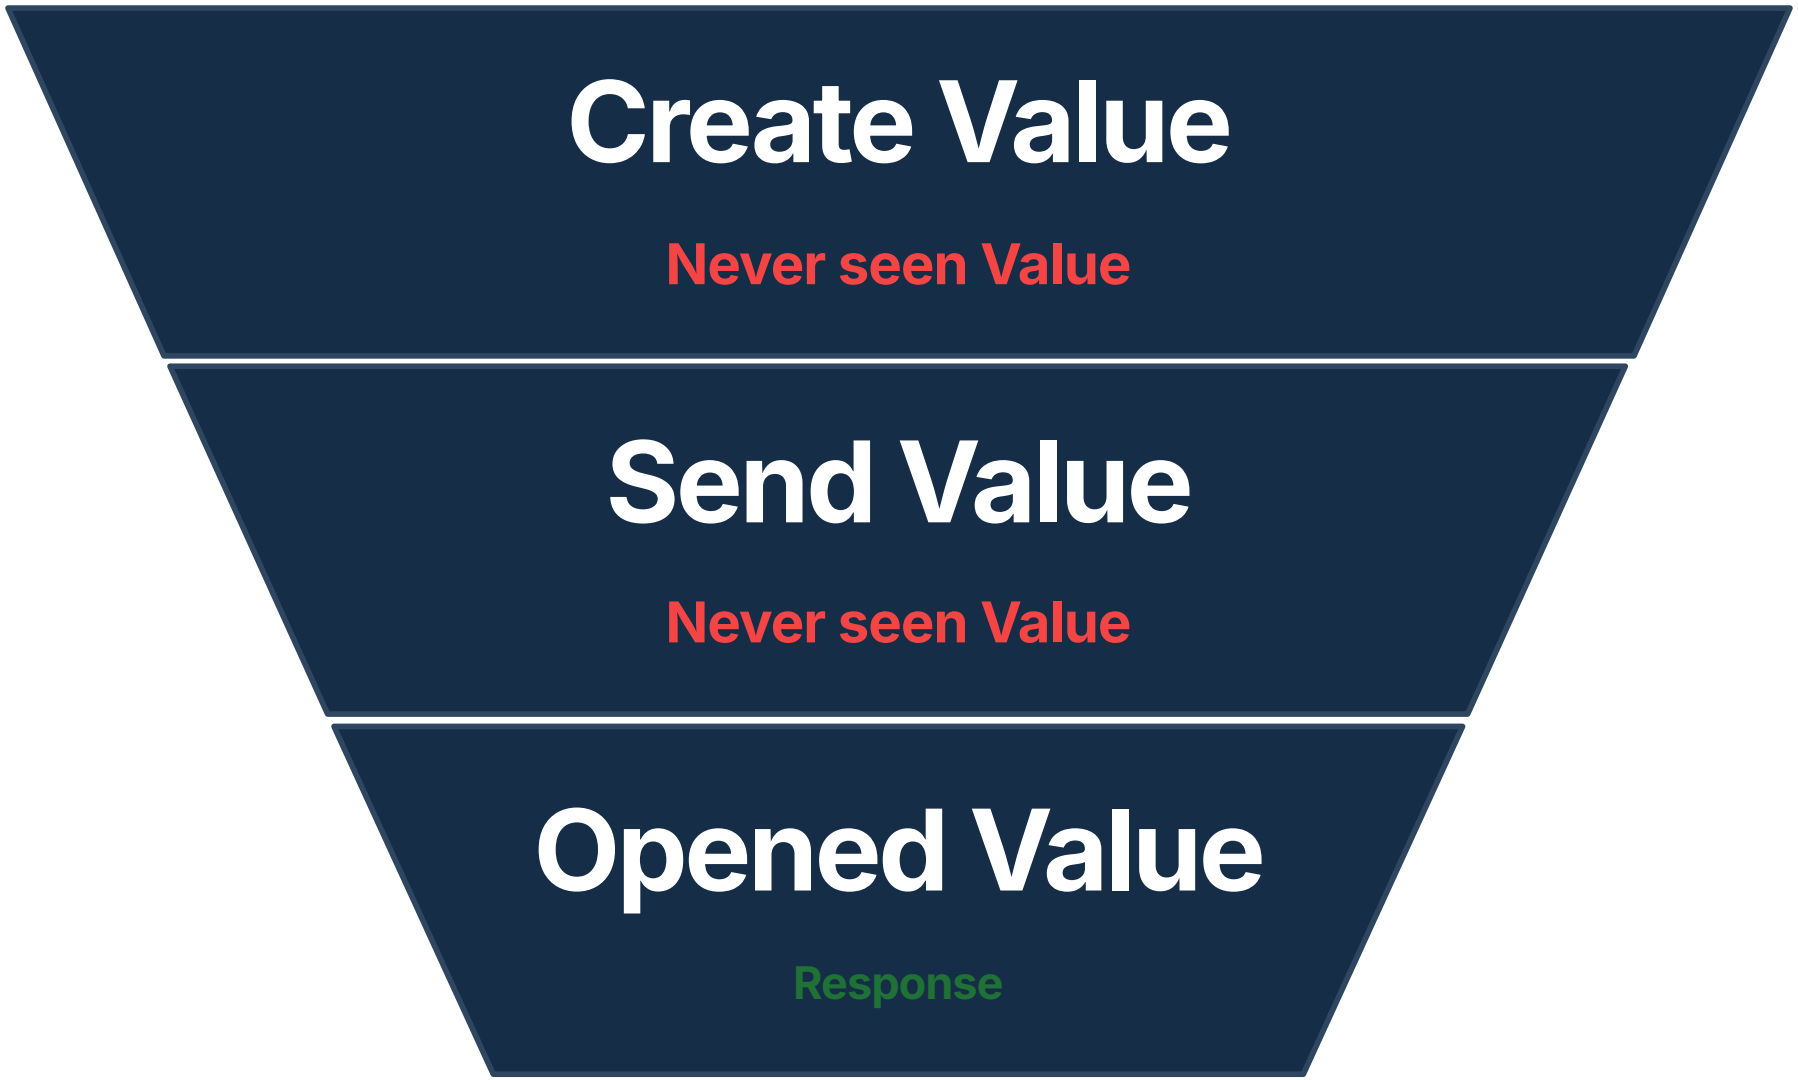

Made with GAMMA

Value Driven Outreach

Made with GAMMA

Understanding Outreach Buyer Journey

Made with GAMMA

Made with GAMMA

Optimizing For The Right Things...

Made with GAMMA

How To Think About D100 Optimization

1. Optimize For The Click
2. Optimize For A Response
3. Optimize For A Call

Made with GAMMA

Why Do We Optimize For The Click

Made with GAMMA

What are we optimizing for firstly... THE CLICK

1 This Is Not M.A.C.E (Mass automated cold email)

They are playing a different game to us.

We are trying to get each individual person to open our email and doing EVERYTHING we can to have them open it. So let's do things differently

2 Your Value Does The Selling

Can we conclude that if your D100 is specific, highlights their problems, the solutions to their problems and why you can solve them. Your D100 will do the best job of selling your services than any email could?

3 Get Them To Open It

So if your D100 is doing the selling for you, you need to optimize for them to open your D100 at all costs. That is your no.1 priority.

4 So We Optimize For The Click

We are optimizing for them to open the D100 first and then we change what we are optimizing for after.

You are far more likely to say yes to going on a date if you have a fun conversation first...

Made with GAMMA

You Need Multiple Scripts for The Buyer Journey

Made with GAMMA

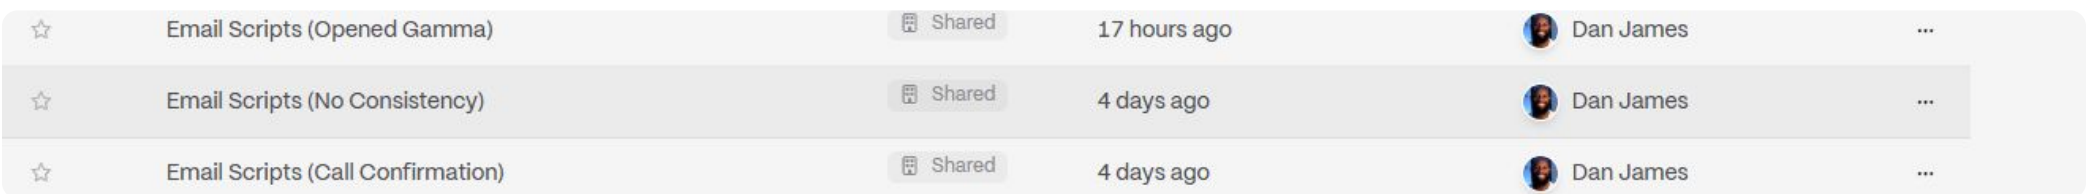

Not Opened D100

More Information →

Opened D100

Logistics →

Confirmed Call

☆	Email Scripts (Opened Gamma)	Shared	17 hours ago	Dan James ···
☆	Email Scripts (No Consistency)	Shared	4 days ago	Dan James ···
☆	Email Scripts (Call Confirmation)	Shared	4 days ago	Dan James ···

Made with GAMMA

Initial Emails That Optimize For The Click

Made with GAMMA

Someone in this room will call bullshit on the below...

Collection of All Social Proof Deck

Made with GAMMA

Examples of Emails I Have ACTUALLY Sent That Have Booked Calls These are all value driven

Note I am leading with value here...

1

Example 1 - Value

this took 578 hours

This is either brilliant or completely, {name}.

Was stalking your YouTube at 2AM yesterday (don't judge 😂) and noticed you hadn't posted.

So we conjured up a full strategy to help solve this.

Not a joke, literally made this all from scratch just for you.

Most importantly though...

We put in a lot (and I mean a lot) of effort to make it worth your time.

- At best: you'll think this is awesome!
- At worst: you'll appreciate the effort & move on (lol)

(Tap Below) To See Something Awesome:

2

Example 1 Follow-Up

Your YouTube's been in stealth mode, {name}.

Time? Strategy? Effort?

So...

We did the work for you - created a FULL strategy to spark things up again.

(not even joking, we did EVERYTHING!)

It will save you a bunch of time & impress you.

Willing to bet no one else has put this much effort into making something for you.

P.S. And we even made you an awesome cinematic video too. (give it a watch!!😂)

(Tap Below) To See Something Awesome:

3

Example 2 Follow-Up

max effort for {name}

3 things are guaranteed in life.

Taxes. Deadlines. And entrepreneurs neglecting YouTube.

To help you get started on YouTube again we did something for you...

SERIOUSLY.

We did something insane for you.

A YouTube strategy that would probably cost you 1 billion dollars.

Okay not 1 billion, but just open the damn link 😂.

You are gonna love it, it's AWESOME.

- - - - - - - - - - - - - - - -

Here's the link:

4

Follow Up

There is literally no way...

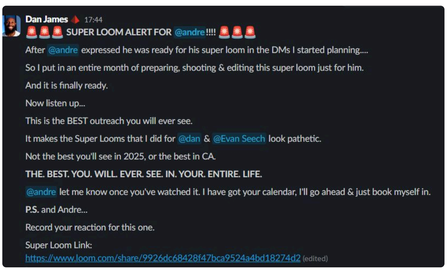

Someone has put this much effort into impressing you before.

I promise you will like it 😂.

Here's the link:

5

Super Loom Example

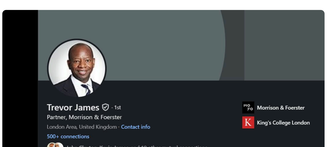

6

Adapt to Your Industry

'I am in a super technical niche where they are really professional'

Let's take the law industry...

Example:

Got something that you will likely find interesting... Trevor.

Was doing some digging into {law firm} last night and noticed a couple of things.

You don't have a real landing page.

So I thought... let me do the hard work for you already.

Below is a full optimized landing page made just for you & {law firm}.

Put maybe 150+ hours into it because I needed it to be PERFECT for you (as I know you are a premium law firm).

Made with GRAMMAR

Analysis

Click Optimization

- There is no mention of a call, a response all I am doing is getting them to OPEN my D100

Hard Pattern Interrupts

- They have never in their lives got an email like this & they have never got a D100 like this in their life, I am different.

Link At The End

- The last thing they see is the link they naturally want to click it. They are curious.

Conviction

- We put in a lot (and I mean a lot) of effort to make it worth your time.
  - At best: you'll think this is awesome!
  - At worst: you'll appreciate the effort & move on (lol)

Made with GAMMA

Outreach Breakdown

Subject Lines

- this took 758 hours
- best thing you have ever seen
- you will LOVE me
- do you like surprises?
- best outreach OF ALL TIME

Openings

Milestone

- Saw your recent post on {{x}} absolutely fng genius!
- Saw your post on {{x}} about and looooved your point on {{y}}. 100% stealing that strategy.
- {{milestone}}? Okay, I see you!!! ****

Name

- Ive got something for you {{name}}
- Got an idea for ya {{name}}

Numbers

- This email will take exactly 9.3 seconds to read {{name}}
- This email has a 92.3% chance of making you not get inbox rage
- only an 8-second read this one *

Not What You Think

- This email has absolutely positively nothing to do with {{x}}
- This will either be the BEST thing you've seen in 2025 or you are going to be greatly disappointed
- Got a strategy for you - it's likely not what you think it is.
- This idea is likely something you haven't considered before.
- I'll bet the hair that doesn't exist on my head you've never thought of this before.
- What I'm about to say might sound a little crazy - but so did airplanes.
- Could be a total curveball, but you struck me as someone who'd appreciate this idea...

Pain

- Can you promise to not get mad at me when I say this?
  Seriously... need a promise!
  Okay... there's something I noticed {{competitor}} is doing better than you.
- Was looking for you on YouTube & couldn't find anything...
- {{x}} been a pain in the neck right {{name}}?

Ridiculous

- Couldn't sleep.
  Couldn't even EAT.
  Until I shared this with you.
- This email was 95% written by a human.
- Saw what you were doing on {{x}} - and couldn't SLEEP unless I shared a quick idea...
- Opening this email may result in {{x}}
- open this or I'll tattoo your name on my bald head
- If you don't open this I'm shaving my head

> ① Note:
> Surely you can't say anything this crazy...?

Storyteller

- Picture this {{name}}...
- Imagine this {{name}}...
- Hope you like Disney {{name}} because we got a story to tell...
- Prepare for some movie-level storytelling {{name}}!

Open Loop

- either going to excite or disappoint you...
- we noticed something about you...
- are you coming?
- There is NO chance you've seen this before
- either the BEST or WORST idea

Final Email

- Final note before I close this thread
- Last message before I get outta your hair
- Final roll of the dice...
- Last hail mary pass...
- One last shot at this, then I'll go quiet...
- Reckon this is my final nudge...
- Last time I'll bug you...
- Can't blame me for trying one more time...
- Final poke, then I'll vanish...
- I'm about to throw in the towel, so...

No Responses

- Not sure if this is even relevant, but I've got a tiny nugget you might like...
- On the off chance you actually open this
- Might be way off here
- Tentatively assuming
- Pushing my luck
- Final roll of the dice
- Take this with a pinch of salt...
- Without sounding too intrusive...
- At the risk of sounding too direct...
- Take this with a grain of salt...
- Could be barking up the wrong tree, but...
- I might be off base, but...
- Shot in the dark, but here goes...
- Humor me for a second...
- Don't quote me on this, but...
- I know I'm just a randomer from LinkedIn, but...
- I'm sure you've got bigger fish to fry, but...
- Mind if I throw a quick question your way?
- This might sound daft, but...
- Forgive me if this is a total curveball...
- Purely out of curiosity...
- Just a random thought...
- Completely unrelated, but...
- Thinking out loud here...
- Feel free to ignore this
- Totally understand if this is a no...
- Spit balling here...
- I'm waffling but...
- Didn't want to vanish on you, so here's a quick nudge...
- Still me - still curious if this is on your radar...
- Had a random thought about your situation - mind if I share?
- Popping back in - something just crossed my mind about your last update...
- A quick heads-up: I stumbled upon something that might be right up your street...
- Got a fresh angle I wanted to run by you - hope that's alright...
- Quick second pass at this, in case my last note got buried...
- Thought I'd check in before I assume you're all set...
- You might've missed my last note - no worries if so...
- I promise this isn't
- If I'm completely off, just pretend this never landed...
- I know I'm just a random name in your inbox...
- Apologies if this is not your jam...
- Feel free to bin this if it's naff...
- Might be stepping on toes here...
- If you've got bigger fish to fry, no worries...
- Totally get if you're bombarded with these...
- I'll hold my hands up if I've got this wrong...
- I'm the last person who wants to spam you...
- Real talk: I might just be overthinking this...
-

Body Of The Email

Authority Build

Not seeing many do this in the {{niche}} space.
Have seen {{competitor}} do this and its very much crushing.

Buyer Metaphors

It's as smooth as your checkout experience
Bet your inbox is as packed as your fulfillment centers
It's as seamless as your payment feature

Current Timing

This morning {{name}}
Last night

Hedge Your Bets

I see you have 15 employees (LinkedIn data, grain of salt!)
Lazy Language

Lazy Language

nice basically a bit thing pretty stuff cool kinda wacky grain of salt nice basically a bit thing pretty stuff
cool
grain of salt
Guarantee you a sh*t ton of meetings.

Use Brackets

- (a bit bonkers, I know)
- (kind of a big deal, apparently)
- (no idea if that's relevant, but hey)
- (a smidge random, I'll admit)
- (don't shoot the messenger)
- (talk about a left-field idea)
- (figured it was worth a quick mention)
- (LinkedIn data, grain of salt)
-

CTAs

- I know you have got RUBBISH emails in the past but this is different...
- Okay this is legit awesome, trust me
- Click the below, if its not incredible just let me know & I'll close my business
- Genuinely willing to bet it'll be one of the coolest things you see in {month}.
  - P.S. And we even made you an awesome 8k cinematic video too in the doc. Give it a watch!!😂
  - (Click Below) To See Something Awesome:
- If you open it and aren't impressed whatsoever...
  - I'll even shave off my beard, and I need my beard, because I am BALD.
  - (Tap Below) To See Something Awesome:

Made with GAMMA

Email Checklist

Copy

- [ ] Have you done a hard pattern interrupt?
- [ ] Is this the email you would send if you HAD to get them to open it?
- [ ] Is the email still professional whilst doing a hard pattern interrupt?
- [ ] Can the prospect feel your conviction?
- [ ] Are your sentences snappy?
- [ ] Have you used an opener that is not generic?
- [ ] Have you NOT opened with their name?

Tech

- [ ] Hemmingway Grade 6?
- [ ] Is your only CTA the click?
- [ ] Is it less than 100 words?
- [ ] Is the last thing they see a link?

Avoided M.A.C.E

- [ ] Have you avoided M.A.C.E cliches? (quick question for example)

Made with GAMMA

DM Checklist

Copy

- [ ] Have you done a hard pattern interrupt?
- [ ] Can the prospect feel your conviction?
- [ ] Have you used an opener that is not generic?
- [ ] Have you NOT opened with their name?
- [ ] Does it read like an actual human?

Tech

- [ ] Is your only CTA the click?
- [ ] Is the last thing they see a link?

Made with GAMMA

How To Lead With Value

YouTube Package - Mr Addie

Made with GAMMA

Offer Driven Outreach

Made with GAMMA

Email - Offer

You are either going to love me or hate me.

Checked out your profile and...

I'd be willing to bet the hair that doesn't exist on my head.

That we could: {offer}.

Worth a little chat about or shall I get lost?

Made with GAMMA

Real Examples for All Of You

Made with GAMMA

Triine Viirmann

Online service business to online coaching (I set up automations and workflows for them)

Offer Outreach:

I've got something that you may find pretty cool Jason.
So last night I spent an UNGODLY amount of hours looking at your funnel.
And saw some places that weren't automated at all...
Guessing you haven't had the time.
Well I'd be happy to make your first automation completely on me to see if you even like it.
Worth a quick DM chat?

Value Outreach:

Got something that you will likely find interesting... Jason.
Was doing some digging into your funnel last night and noticed a couple of things. You don't have any automations. So I thought... let me do the hard work for you already. Below is a full optimized automation build. Put maybe 150+ hours into it because I needed it to be PERFECT for you (as I know you are a premium law firm).
You are gonna love it, it's AWESOME.
- - - - - - - - - - - - - - - -
Here's the link:

Made with GAMMA

Jessica Drake

Webinar launch agency and business coaching

OFFER-LED

Subject: you will LOVE me

Got something for you Jessica.
So last night I went full detective mode on your business :: and noticed something kind of glaring.
No webinars.
Now I get it :: running a launch agency AND coaching is a lot. Webinars probably just haven't made the list yet.
But here's the thing... I've been watching a couple of your competitors absolutely smash it with them.
Like, embarrassingly well.
So here's what I want to do :: let me run your first webinar completely on me. Zero cost, zero risk. If you love it, we can talk about doing 10 more. If not, no hard feelings and you've still got a free webinar.
Worth a quick chat?

VALUE-LED

Subject: this took 758 hours

Got something you're gonna find interesting... Jessica.
Spent last night going deep on your business (yes, ungodly hours — don't judge me).
Here's what I found: no webinars. Zero. Whilst your competitors are out there basically printing leads with them.
So I thought :: let me just do the work already.
Below is a fully built webinar framework, scripted and structured specifically for your launch agency audience. Put serious hours into it because it needed to be PERFECT for you.
You're gonna love it.

Made with GAMMA

Jason Jarod Coetzer

Note: If you have time - teach Jason about logistical intensity.

Made with GAMMA

Types of Outreach

Worst to Best

Let me explain them all...

1

Cold DMs (no value)

> Hey x. I saw your profile blah blah blah

2

Cold Email (no value)

> Hey x. I saw your profile blah blah blah

3

Cold DMs (value led with doc attached)

> Hey x. We created a full strategy doc for you...

4

Cold Email (value led with doc attached)

> Hey x. We created a full strategy doc for you...

5

Create A Cinematic Loom

Loom

Copy of Cinematic VSL 2

6

Send Physical Goods

II.

Physical goods

Researched specifically for them as a person. F1 obsessive? A life-sized F1 model lands at their HQ. Skier? A cinematic ski movie. Whatever makes them feel seen.

Referrals, reposts, close

"Prospects post it to their network. Inbound leads follow."

7

Create Super Loom

www.lincko.co

Book A Meeting Today

Guaranteed meeting with the whale of your choice. Or a refund. Creative outbound for B2B service businesses.

Made with GAMMA

Closing Notes

1

Mistake #1
Extreme Use of Ai for No Reason

- Use Ai to better solve your bottlenecks
- Stop building nonsense

2

Mistake #2
Not Working On Your No.1 Constraint

- Do what will help you scale even if it sucks

3

Mistake #3
Not Putting In The Work

- How many hours are you actually working with non distractions?
- Business is a competition, there is a psycho like myself trying to steal your customers...

4

You MUST Make Content

- There is NO ARGUMENT you can make to me against this.

5

You Must Have A Good Offer

- If you don't you are crazy!

6

Your Client Is The Hero In Your Marketing & Messaging

- Make them see the dream outcome

7

Set Targets & Stick To Them Like Your Life Depends On It

8

Learn Your Metrics

9

Are Your Gross Margins 80%?

10

Reduce Your Churn ASAP

11

Use No-Brainer Offers

12

Learn Copywriting

Made with GAMMA

How To Scale To 100K A Month

Workshop key lessons + full transcript

Everything from the Super Outreach Masterclass workshop video, after the slides. By Dan James.

Who this is for Business owners (agencies, coaches, service businesses and D2C brands) who want to scale, and want the business set up so outreach is actually worth doing.

Who am I? I'm Dan James, founder of Thakos, a former content agency I scaled to 30K a month in 60 days. I'm also a Dream 100 outreach coach at Client Ascension.

Start with better business thinking

If your profit margins are bad, outreach isn't worth the effort and the rejection. Make the juice worth the squeeze first.

Build a social proof deck. Every time anyone says anything good about you, put it in a deck. When someone on a sales call says "I don't really trust you," just scroll through it. There are four types of proof: case study interviews, video testimonials, screenshots and written testimonials.

The 3 mistakes that stop you scaling

1. Using AI for no reason. Playing with Claude Code feels like progress, but nine times out of ten it has nothing to do with your constraint. Your job is to get customers. Use AI to help you make content, run ads, onboard clients and do outreach, not for its own sake. AI can even hurt you: my handwritten LinkedIn posts get 10,000 impressions while a friend's AI posts get no comments.
2. Not working on your number one constraint. Every business has one thing holding it back: lead generation, sales or fulfilment. If you don't know what yours is, it's demand: get more leads. Never stop a profitable action. A waiting list is better than turning customers away to build a system.
3. Not putting in the work. Going from 10K to 20K a month is a 100% increase, and it's brutal. Someone in your niche is working like crazy to beat you. If you want a lifestyle business that's fine, just know the game you're playing.

Quick check: have you posted 10+ long-form YouTube videos, 50+ short-form videos and 400+ pieces of outreach this year? If not, that's the gap.

There are only 3 ways to get customers

Way	What it is	When to use it
Paid ads	Facebook, Instagram, TikTok, Google	D2C and e-com. B2B only once you're at around 40K a month
Outbound	Cold email, cold DMs, in person	The bigger your ticket size, the more it matters (roughly 1.5K+)
Inbound	Content, events, masterminds, networking	Everyone, always

Why B2B under 40K a month shouldn't run ads: in B2B it can cost $800 to $8,000 to win one customer from ads. Below 40K a month you don't have the cash to keep that going. Under 40K a month, B2B = content and outreach. D2C and e-com = content and ads.

You must make content

- When you do outreach, people search you straight away. Content builds trust and lowers what it costs to win a customer. You are an internet scammer until people see your face.
- Hormozi could walk into a room and charge 5K for a workshop because of how much trust his content built.
- Don't know what to make? Find someone in your niche whose content works and copy the topics. Start with 10 kilos, not 150.
- YouTube is the most powerful platform because of watch time. Google's 7-11-4 idea: 7 hours of content, 11 touch points, 4 platforms.
- For agencies, make your content about the money your client makes, not views or brand visibility.

Get maximum social proof

Given two identical products, everyone buys the one with 1,900 reviews over the one with 3. People hesitate on sales calls because they want to lower their risk. More social proof, more content and more authority = more certainty.

- Video client interviews are the best kind. My LinkedIn profile is client interview after client interview, plus a deck of around 700 screenshots.
- The more interviews, the bigger the business: I have 7 at 40K a month, Evan has 9 at 200K a month, my mentor Daniel Fazio has 52 interviews and 519 screenshots at $1.4 million a month.
- Clients won't give you one? Bribe them: 10% off, a free consulting session.
- All the best ads just use social proof.

You must have a good offer

An offer is a clear benefit someone gets from your service. Make your client the hero (Luke Skywalker, not you). Nobody cares that you "do webinars" or "do automations." They care about the dream outcome.

- Dream state vs nightmare state: test both, and on sales calls move between what happens if they do this and what happens if they don't.
- Create the gap (Cole Gordon): why everything they've tried hasn't worked, and why yours will.
- Hormozi's value equation: big dream outcome, high belief it will work, fast results, little effort or sacrifice. "Lose 30 pounds without running on the treadmill."
- Guarantees win: Fazio has never seen a B2B offer over 100K a month without one. Mine: "We guarantee a meeting with a whale client of your choice by sending the most incredible creative outbound on earth, done for you, refund if we miss." I've refunded zero people.
- Scared of refunds? Add stipulations (terms the client must meet, like attending the calls). 50% more sales with 3 to 8% refunds still makes you far more money.
- Your market isn't "sophisticated" enough for a strong offer? Make it sophisticated yourself and take everyone.
- See an offer working in your market? Take it. Mine was copied from someone who was killing it.

Set targets and stick to them like your life depends on it

Business is a list of inputs. I hate the gym but I've gone five times a week for 14 years. Set your content and outreach targets (I batch YouTube and LinkedIn in one day a month) and never miss them. Start small and add weight over time.

Know your numbers

These numbers exist whether you track them or not.

Metric	What it means	Example
LTV (lifetime value)	Total a client pays you over the whole time they stay	1K a month for 10 months = 10K
COGS (cost of goods sold)	What it costs to deliver for them	Staff, time, onboarding: 4K
LTGP (lifetime gross profit)	LTV minus COGS. Better than LTV	10K minus 4K = 6K
CAC (cost to acquire a customer)	What it costs to win one client	Thousands in B2B, $5 to $25 in D2C
LTGP to CAC ratio	Profit per client vs cost to win them. Bigger = you can scale	2 to 1 is awful, 8 to 1 is a business
Gross margin	Profit after delivery costs, as a %	Aim for 80%
Net profit	What lands in your bank after every cost
Churn	% of clients who leave each month	Make people stay longer

Why 80% gross margins: on 100K revenue, 66% margins and 54K of running costs leaves you 12K. At 80% margins and 26K of costs you keep far more. Better offers, brand and authority raise your margins.

Lower your CAC: better offers, brand, higher authority, affiliate programmes, better targeting.

Raise your LTGP: increase your price (the strongest lever), lower delivery costs, get people buying more often, cross-sells, upsells and down-sells.

Full transcript

Everything I said in the workshop video, word for word (lightly tidied so it reads well).

The reason why this is important is because we could get straight to outreach, but if your gross profit or net profit suck, what's the point? Like, what's actually the point? If you're operating on, because some people are, 20%, 30% gross profit, and I'm like, go do outreach, your income will probably increase by, like, a grand. Why would any human do outreach if they're doing all that effort and rejection and then getting a grand as a result? Well, it's not worth it, is it? So, that's why I think the first thing we go is better business thinking, how you can go about things, how you can actually set things up, so you want to do outreach. One of my mentors says, there's an opportunity cost in doing everything, and if the juice isn't worth the squeeze, you're not going to do it, and that's completely fine. So, I want the juice to be worth the squeeze.

My name is Dan James, and I'm the founder of Thakos. It's a former content agency, and I scaled with these methods, and I scaled to 30k a month in 60 days. Honestly, I was, like, 35, 40, 42. I had some, I had one month, well, I made, like, 65, and I signed a 21k deal, like, and it was 30-day fulfillment, so that was aggressive. I've had, like, 21k PIFs, 10k PIFs. So, PIF stands for paid in full.

I'm also a Dream 100 coach, which is a value coach of outreach in one of the biggest B2B programs called Client Ascension, and that's why I'm qualified. Everyone in this room should create a deck of all of their social proof. The caveats are, if you're e-com, or if you're DTC, but everybody else should create a deck of all their, so you a hundred percent need to have one with the webinars, you with the air automations, you too, you guys too. So, I'll show you. Oh, okay. This is a full social proof deck. I learned this from a guy called Eric Nowoslawski. Anytime anybody ever says anything good about you, put it into a deck, and you'll be surprised how much social proof you'll get, like, you'll be gobsmacked.

And whenever you're on a sales call, or whenever you're in a conversation, and you're thinking, oh, like, and the person's like, oh, I don't really trust you just go, okay, no problem, you just pull up the full social proof deck, and you just scroll, you just scroll.

I said to him, I bet you my beard, this will be the best outreach you'll ever see, it was, I'm keeping my beard. There's basically four types of social proof. Case study interviews, video testimonials. Video testimonials, where they sit in front of a camera, screenshots, and then written testimonials, and that, that's it. And you put all of this into a deck, all of it, and you show the result, you show how you got it.

The odds of at least one person in this room making one of these mistakes is 100%. If you continue to make these mistakes, everything else will be completely irrelevant. So, you need to be doing the right tasks and actions to scale. This is why better business thinking is pivotal. And for the record, I'm going to be quite intense on this, but I'm not trying to harp on anyone. I've made a ton of these mistakes, okay? And it prevented me from scaling. So, if I'm speaking intensely, it's not because I'm looking down on anybody. It's just because I'm very passionate because I've either made this mistake or maybe I've coached someone that's made a mistake and I just don't want you to make the mistake.

So, mistake number one, extreme use of AI for no reason, okay? Everybody seems to be doing this, okay? So, be super honest with yourself. So, here's one of my mentors and a good friend of mine. He's called Andre Huckel Jr. Makes $1.4 million a month with a massive SaaS company.

Long story extremely short, what he's saying here is everybody wants to do Claude Code. And I used to be a software engineer, so I get why everyone wants to do It feels like magic. You put stuff in and you get outputs. But nine times out of... Ten times out of ten, that has nothing to do with your constraint. You want to mess around with Claude Code because making content... Or shooting outreach or doing... Or shooting... Doing outreach or shooting ads is hard. So, I understand why like, Claude Code, Claude Code, Claude Code, Claude Code. But it's not going to solve your constraint. If your constraint truly is operational and you need to do something with Claude Code, then great. But basically, probably everybody in this room is demand constrained, if we're being honest. So, it's important to ask yourself, are you this person? To keep up with AI, you need to be unemployed. And like, I'll get people that will be like, what are you doing with AI? And I'm like, nothing. Like, I don't want to do anything with it. Obviously, like, there needs to be some stuff with it. But Claude Code or more outreach and content and ads. More outreach, content and ads. Every single time. Honestly, like, if I had a choice between not using AI and just doing nothing but outreach, I'd rather just do outreach. I'd rather just not touch it. Does that make sense, everybody? So, his point is, using AI for the sake of it will not make you any money. You're not an engineer. You're not a tech founder. You're not systemizing processes that don't exist yet. Your job is to get customers. That is it.

So, how do we best use AI? Because someone in the room is thinking, oh, well, we do need to use AI. Use AI to facilitate the processes that you should be doing. So, we all should be making content. We all should be doing outreach, apart from customers. And we all should be making ads. So, what we should do is, we should use AI to make content. Use AI to help us with ads. Use AI to help us onboard new customers. Use AI to do outreach. To run this test, you see a problem. You analyse if this is a real constraint. You ask yourself, do I really need AI? Then, you go, okay, if I need AI, I'll use AI to solve this one problem. Next thing, note. AI can also hurt you, okay? Just because you can use AI doesn't mean you should. So, my LinkedIn has been going nuclear recently, okay? I have 1,200 followers. And I've got like 700 in the last month. And I handwrite all of my posts. I do it over like three hours, okay? I'm getting 10,000 impressions. I'm getting like four people messaging me a day. Dude, your post, your post. My dad, when I was on the phone to him, was like, I saw your video testimonial. I was like, your LinkedIn's going crazy. And one of my good friends, Andrej Tomachewicz, love him dearly. He AI's everything. Nobody comments. Nobody cares. So, just because you can use AI doesn't mean it's better. I know you're saying, oh, I'm saving time. But like, ultimately, we want the result. The point of posting on LinkedIn is to get more brand awareness, more followers, eventually more clients, more customers. Just because you're like, yeah, automated with AI. What was the output at the end of the month? Like, I would love to use AI. But I know that me handwriting it and like saying what I want in my posts leads to way better results. So, AI can hurt you. So, like, of course, AI is a great tool and I love it. But don't become an AI person just because.

At the end of the day, it's about the result. And I think that's so important. Mistake number two is not working on number one constraint. Someone in this room is probably thinking, what's a constraint? Which is very fair. It's a very fair question.

In a business, there is one thing that's preventing it from growing, okay? And typically, the three constraints that one can have is lead generation, definitely for you, lead generation, sales and fulfillment. And unless you are growing very quickly, your constraint more than likely is lead generation. And that's the thing that's preventing you from growing very quickly. But let's say I gave you 15 people to do webinars for, you're going to be like, yay, money, but you're going to not sleep because, what's your problem now? Well, now, if I sell them, then it's going to be solid. So, now you're supply constrained. Do you see how it's just oscillating between the two issues? Yeah. And the key thing is to focus on the given constraint at any time.

If you don't know what your constraint is, you're demand constrained. If you're like, I don't know what it is, it's leads. If you're like, I'm unsure, I'm unsure, like, what is it? What is it? It's definitely Customers, like, that's like, if you take anything, you're like, oh, man, it could be this, it could be this. Customers. And it's far better to put customers into a system and have it break than to, like, build the system. Like, there's a guy called Jeremy Haynes, who I love dearly. He always says, never stop a profitable action. Never stop a profitable action. So, if you can do an action and then it breaks the system, it's much better to continue it. You can do a waiting list. You could explain to them, hey, you could literally take their money and say, we just have a one week waiting list. Is that okay? They're going to go okay. They've given you the money. And then you can give them information during that week. They're going to be fine with it. But instead of building the system, never stop a profitable action. I've used that exact phraseology, to close loads of deals. Because sometimes people will be like, oh, man, now's a bad time. And I'm like, well, your content's already working. You're already signing five people. Why stop a profitable action? They're like, yeah, all right, let's do it. So, like, never stop a profitable action. Does that help?

What not to do is do not change your landing page. Do not mess around with AI. Do not do anything but solve your number one constraint. Please, I beg. I'm already bald, okay? I beg. And I think the other thing is the number one constraint can sometimes be painful. So, for example, for me, so I'm doing my new offer. Me and my business partner, we're like, my LinkedIn's going crazy. But we're hitting the point where we're going to have to start going very aggressive on outreach. I don't want to. I don't want to do it. I want to make my LinkedIn post and sit in front of my cute camera and make content because I love doing it. I don't want to have to do outreach. I don't. I'm very good at outreach, but I don't want to. But I recognize that's what's going to scale. So, like, I'll also be human with you and also level with you. Like, because straight isn't nice. Like, that's the reason why no one wants to do it. That's why everyone does Claude Code. Because doing outreach sucks. It hurts. You're getting rejected. You feel low. You wake up another day in the business and then you sit down and you can do outreach. I get it. So, like, if you're avoiding the constraint, I've been there and I am with you, okay? Like, I'm with you. Cool? Awesome. And then I put some examples of constraints. Supply constraint. Unable to serve as many customers. And the example you do with Jessica. Demand constraint. No one's booking calls. Demand constraint. No one's responding to outreach. Operationally constraint. Our system breaks when we scale, for example. And if you don't know what your constraint is, I promise, it's demand. Just get more leads. Cool? Sales cure all.

Mistake number three, not putting the work. I'm going to keep this brief. But I think this is important to say, okay? I know we're in Bali and it's a very relaxed environment. Everyone's having fun and it's chilled. But being able to scale your business from 10 to 20k a month is a 100% increase. That is not easy, okay? It is brutal. So, firstly, when I say, like, again, I'm going to hold your hand and be like, that is brutal. And I understand that it's painful and it's not easy. But you've got to put that work in.

There is someone in your niche who's psychotically working, like me, trying to beat you, okay? And, yes, and maybe you don't want a seven-figure business. Fine, I get it. But, like, a nine-to-five... There's some business people in Bali, nine-to-five has put more work in than them. And you can be like, well, I have a lifestyle business. I have a lifestyle business. Fine. I technically have a lifestyle business. I could do nothing and make $40,000, $50,000 a month because my project manager is so good. But just recognize that, like, this is not a nine-to-five. You signed up to work. You signed up to grind. And if you want to take it easy, no problem. But just know the game you're playing. Like, if you want to go to $200,000 a month, grind. Crazy person. Evan Siech, a good friend of mine, $250,000 a month. All he does is work. Me, I'm scaling like crazy. All I do is work. But if you're like, you want to be chilled and you want to be chilled, great. You can do that. But just know what's important to you.

So, ads is hard work. Outreach is hard work. Content is hard work. It's hard work, okay? It's long. Who here has posted more than 10 long-form videos on YouTube this year? Who here has done more than 400 pieces of outreach this year? Who here has posted more than 50 short-form videos on Instagram until this year?

Do you see how, like, very quickly, we can just all be out. Do you see? So, like, 10 YouTube videos this year. Guys, we're in... We're in June. We should... That's... Like, how many... Like, that's... Like, that's... We should... You should be doing it at least once a week. You should be doing it once a week.

And at worst, we should all be posting. And if not, like, maybe you don't want to do long-form, but you should be definitely doing short-form. Like, do you know what I mean? Webinar, 100% once a week. AI automation, 100% once a week. Me, 100% once a week. At least. I'm posting three times a week on YouTube. So, the point is, do you see how, like, we all very quickly fall off a cliff of the outputs that matter?

So, there are only three ways in any business to get customers ever, okay? That is paid ads, outbound, and inbound. That is it. That is literally it, okay? No other way exists. Paid ads is Facebook ads. Facebook, Instagram, TikTok if you want to get crazy, Google, whatever it may be. It's literally just paid traffic, like, if it was Catherine, maybe a billboard in Bali, whatever it is. It's literally like you're putting money into a box and you're getting designated impressions. That's paid ads, number one, okay? Number two is outbound, which is what you guys all came here for, which is essentially cold email, cold DMs, and for sure, it would be in person. She's going to, hopefully, I'm going to get her to go in person. And then, last but certainly not least, is content, inbound, in person, which is things like this, masterminds, networking events, and then brick and mortar. That's it.

What you do of ads inbound and outbound is completely contingent upon your capital and your ticket size. So, number one, content every single time, no accession ever. I do not want to hear it. That's the fact, okay? There's no argument you can make to me. And I'm going to have a slide on this, but content every single time. Every single person in this room has to make content.

Outreach, it depends on your ticket size. The larger the ticket size, the more important outreach is. You can shoot for, like, say, 1.5K as a very rough estimate. So, let me explain from a mathematical perspective why, unless you're doing 40K a month and you're a B2B agency, you should not run ads, okay? This is just maths, all right? So, this is called Cost to Acquire a Customer, okay? Fundamentally, all of us buy customers, either via time or money. That's a fact of life. You can't get around that.

The reason why, if you run a B2B company, you can't just run ads, is because if you spend three grand, you might only get one customer. You're just burning money. So, you need to have the capital to keep you going. That's why one of my mentors taught me, you always wait till you're at 40K a month, then you can start running ads. Because you, because it costs so much more to get that customer. Does that make sense? Cool. I want to just break this down a little bit more. It's because in B2B, the ticket size is just, is just higher. They're just more sophisticated prospects. They need more time. And they're spending more money.

But if you're B2B and you're below 40K a month, it's content and outreach. If you're D2C, Ecom, it's content and ads. That's basically it. A very brief lesson on running ads. So, every business should know their cost to acquire a customer. If you're in B2C, it can be ranging from anyone to $1 to $800. Obviously, it can be more, but whatever. And then B2B, it can be from $800 to $8,000 cost to acquire a customer. So, if you are, say, below $40,000 a month and your cost to acquire a customer is $3,000, you are going to be spending basically all of your money in order to acquire a customer. It makes no sense because you don't have the capital in order to keep running ads to acquire an effective customer. So, instead, you should just make content and do outreach because it's far more cost effective. When you are doing $30,000, $40,000 a month, you can then use the capital to acquire a customer because you have $25,000 to spend to get business. So, if you are below $10,000 and you're running ads, you hate money.

You must make content, okay? This is not a debate, all right? Please don't make me lose my hair. This is going to be a brief one. In 2026, people are willing and happy to talk about their marital issues on social media. People will talk about their family drama on social media. Tell the world their deepest, darkest secrets. Some of the things I've heard on social media is crazy. You never know what your next scroll is going to be, okay? So, you need to get on camera to market your business. People do it for free. Sometimes people do it. Sometimes people post content and they lose their jobs. You are getting paid. You are getting paid. You need to post content, okay? So, any argument that you can make to me about not posting content, I promise it's silly, okay? Like, it's wrong. Like, it's not real.

I'm posting on YouTube 12 times a month. 12 times a month. A month, okay? And I post on LinkedIn every single day. Haven't missed a day in, like, four months. Cool. So, why is this important? When you do outreach, people will search you immediately. It will build trust and it will decrease your cost to acquire a customer.

Everybody know Alex Hormozi? Everybody? Yeah. He could walk into this room and be like, I want 5K for a workshop. We're all paying. We're all paying. We are all giving him money. It's because he's made so much content and he's built so much trust. We've never met him. We've never met him. And some of us will probably never meet him. But we give him money because of how much trust he's built. So, his cost to acquire a customer, if he walked into this room, would be zero. Just think about that.

You are by default an internet scammer until people see your face, especially in B2B. The other thing is, guys, if you make content... This was me in Bali two weeks ago. I'm on my motorbike. Some dude walked up to me on my motorbike and he went to me, oh my gosh, I saw your content. And I was like, huh? And he saw one of the outreaches that I did for someone because I make crazy outreaches. And I spoke to him for like half an hour. The dude bought consulting for me on the spot. Never met him. I called my mum. I was like, mum, ta-da! I was losing my mind. So, like, you can develop parasocial relations with people. LinkedIn, last night, some guy was like, I want you on my podcast. Like, make content. Build trust. Becoming a big authority figure in the space will decrease your cost to acquire a customer. It will make you more money. You will get consulting deals. Like, people just start throwing money at you. You're like, what the hell? I don't deserve this. But, so that's why making content and building authority is super important.

If any of you guys are here and you say, I don't know what to make, look at someone in your niche that has content that's working and copy it. That is it. Just copy it. Literally, just copy it. Obviously don't copy the titles, et cetera, but just the things they talk about, just steal it. And some of you might be like, oh, well, like, that's not authentic, diminishing returns. Just get, like, get yourself on the horse, okay? I think sometimes with content, people want the perfect content strategy. They want the perfect this, the perfect that. And it's not fair to yourself. If you were in the gym and I put 150 kilos on the bench and said, press it, you'd all look at me like I was crazy. It's okay to put 10 kilos on and work your way up to having the perfect content. It's completely fine. And you can copy someone to get there. It's okay. Like, give yourself grace. My sister has 250,000 followers across all platforms. Do you know how many shit videos she made? How many shit videos I made? Tons, hundreds of crap videos. So, like, give yourself that grace.

Agencies, the only reason why anyone would ever give you money in an agency is so they make more money. That's literally it. There's no other reason. Brand awareness doesn't exist. All people care about, and even if it's brand awareness, they want brand awareness to get more money. So imagine it was like a well. At the bottom of the well is money, okay? And you want to get your offer as close to the bottom of the well as possible. Views is here. The bottom of the well is here. Views is here. Brand visibility is up here. I don't want brand visibility. I want my money back. Do you see?

YouTube is the most powerful platform by far. Everyone. It's not a debate. The reason why is because it's the amount of time that people spend with you. If somebody spends nine hours consuming a YouTube, a YouTube course, they're just going to trust you. You don't trust anyone from a tick. I know you don't, you don't trust anyone from a TikTok or an Instagram, short form content. Like I can find, I'm not going to do it. But Nick Saraev, who's the top guy in the automation space, he made a post around, he has like 500,000 followers on Instagram. He made 25 K. He has way less on YouTube and he made like 250 K. YouTube is the best platform by far. Jane, it's honestly not a debate. People can debate me on it, but it's just, it's literally just watch time. Like Google released this study. It's called like the 7-11-4 study. Have you heard of it? Perfect. You know, I'm talking about my house. 7 hours of content, 11 touch points on four different platforms.

People don't watch modules. People don't watch modules. People want access and they want someone to hold their hand. It's like a personal trainer. Everybody knows what to do. Everybody knows, go into the gym, run the treadmill, lift weights. But everyone gets a personal trainer because they get accountability. It makes them feel good. And it has, it's like a Luke Skywalker to Yoda. Like someone just making sure I'm okay. Am I falling off? Am I going to fall off the bike? They're buying, who said this? Sometimes people are buying permission.

Everybody needs to get, needs to be getting maximum social proof. This goes for everybody in the room, okay? Showing people you can actually get results is mandatory, okay? It's absolutely key. Your, especially with B2B, your business needs to become a case study machine, okay? A social proof machine. I get a dopamine hit when I get social proof. When someone says, I use your outreach and I got a result. I, there was one time, I, like, this happened like a week ago. And the guy messaged me saying, I use your system. Oh my gosh, I signed a 5k deal. I couldn't sleep. I was so happy. Like, it was, it was honestly, like, that is, that is literally money. Like, that's money in the bank.

The reason why everybody would buy the one on the right is because that has three reviews, and this has 1,900 reviews, okay? So what does that mean? It means you're at less risk. Whenever we spend money, we want to minimize our risk. It could be as something, as I could not even, I learned this from someone, I could not even conceive what happens, the risk of having a screwdriver that's bad, but I'd rather not have it. So I'd rather just get the one that's more reviews, even if we're the same price. Let's say the same price, same features, same everything, okay? That's what I should have done. I should have got AI to do it, but whatever. I was rushing. We'd all still buy this one. So what you need to do in all of our businesses, we need to decrease the risk with higher social proof. That goes for absolutely everyone, okay? So when you're, the truth is, when you're on like a sales call or when someone's floundering, it's because they are trying to mitigate their risk. That's it. Outside of a logistic, I don't have the money. My partner doesn't support this decision. That's a logistic. But everything else is uncertainty. Everything else is uncertainty. And how do we increase certainty? More social proof. More content. More higher authority.

So video client interviews, all right? This is the granddaddy, all right? This is where you sit down with someone, and then you interview them, and you say, all right, cool. How was the service? What was the transformation you went through, all right? This is the best, okay? This is numero uno.

If you're on my LinkedIn, you're going to see this. On my LinkedIn, if you go on, and you go on to my profile, it's just video. It's just client interview, client interview, client interview, client interview, client interview. It's just bang. And then I have my deck. So if anybody ever says, oh, do you get results? I just say, go to my deck. It's like 700 screenshots in there. And what does that mean? Decreases my cost to acquire a customer because my trust is higher because I'm less risky. Again, I'm going to use an example. If I came to you guys with no credentials and said, I want 10K for my business program, you're not going to give it to me. You're never going to give it to me. But if you see me online, and I build trust on the sales call, and you see other people that have got results, you're going to sit down together, maybe at 9 PM over dinner and be like, maybe we'll pay this dang guy. Do you see the difference?

So, the more client interviews you have, in general, the better. So I have seven doing 40k a month. This is my boy, Evan Siech, doing 200k a month with nine. This is my mentor, Daniel Fazio, a 52 video client interviews, 519 screenshots, doing $1.4 million a month. Do you see the correlation?

Bribe them. I'll give you 10% off. I'll give you this. I'll give you, like, there was one dude. He still hasn't given it to me. And I was like, bro, like, what do you, like, what? I'll give you, there was one guy, I'll give you consulting. Half an hour. I, like, get it. Like, get the, because it will make such a material difference to your business.

All the best ads just use social proof. Yes. All of them. Like, all the best ads use social proof. So, Offers are really important. Alex Hormozi very famously wrote a book called 100 Million Dollar Offers. So, everybody needs to have an offer. Even if you're, like, D2C or e-com. The offer doesn't have to be, like, as abrasive as we're going to go through, but if you can take one thing, okay, that all an offer is explaining why someone should care. What the clear benefit is, okay? In your marketing, make, and I have a slide about this, but make the other person the hero. Make the other person Luke Skywalker. Make the other person, oh my gosh, I'm drawing a blank. Harry Potter, whatever. Make them the legend, okay? In so much marketing, I see other, I see people make themselves the legend. I have a slide about that.

But make them the legend. And your offer is showing how you're going to make them the legend, okay? If you take anything, make your headlines about what other people get. Don't make it about you, okay? And even your social proof is still about them. Everything in business is about the other people. It's about the customer. It's about helping people, okay? Like, you hear people say, help people, help people. No, I was first in business. I was like, no. You guys are just talking. But the more advanced I get, the more I realise, no, the people that make the most money help the most people.

So, an offer is a clear stated benefit that someone gets, from going through your service. All people care about is what's the benefit? Fitness. Oh, I'm this, I'm that. No one cares. All people want to hear is, how are you going to help me lose weight? How are you going to help me look like Arnold Schwarzenegger? That's what people want to know. So give them that.

But instead, all these people could have gone, I do webinars. No one's buying. I do one-to-one coaching and help people. No one's buying. I do automations. No one's buying. I do launches. No one's buying. But if you can explain to them what they get, like what the big dream outcome is.

In marketing, there's dream state and there's nightmare state, Okay, dream state, if it's a fitness trainer, is losing 50 pounds and putting on tons of muscle and finally being confident on a date. That's dream state. Nightmare state is not being happy with your body, looking at yourself in the mirror and not feeling happy with who you are. Both will work. You can, and you know what you can do? Test them.

On sales calls, I will constantly oscillate between the two. So, Jessica very intelligently mentioned the cost of inaction. I will constantly make them swirl in what happens if you don't do this. And then what happens if you do it. Like, I will just put them in that blender.

So, Cole Gordon, who I love, he's a sales guy. He says, when you're pitching someone, it's a mix of why all the other things they've done don't work and why yours is going to work. And you create that gap. So, for me, my offer, my offer is all around signing whale clients with ridiculous outreach. I can literally go, you've sent emails. How many whales have you signed? Oh, one. Okay. Do you want to sign whales? Yeah. Okay. What's your LTV? 125K. All right, cool. So, you've tried to sign whales. You've signed one over the course of the six months. I've signed 15 in two months. So, I can help you do that. Look at all the people I did it for. Do you see how I'm just creating that gap? I'm just making it as big as possible.

There's probably someone in this room that's thinking, I don't need an offer. And the reason why they're thinking it is because they're thinking, my market doesn't need it, my market doesn't resonate with it. And the reason why they're thinking that is because of sophistication levels, okay? So, for example, Trina here is in a market where her sophistication's actually pretty low. Automation's technology is very hot, okay? So, she can have a pretty low offer without all the bells and whistles and get clients. But it's because her market hasn't sophisticated yet. All markets sophisticate.

Now, the point is that even if your market isn't sophisticated, like Trina's, you can just sophisticate it yourself. You can literally do it yourself and take all the customers and just take everybody from everything because the offer's better. If me and Trina have an offer, okay? Let's say hers is, I will build your full automation system in 60 days guaranteed and save you 10 grand a month. Okay? Wicked offer. And then my offer is, I'll build you an automation system. Who are you going to go with? Her. Of course you go with her because it's a better offer.

All of our markets are sophisticated. All of us. It happens at different rates but like, so me personally, I'm here. I have no competitors because what I'm doing is new. People are going to copy me and eventually they are all, wait, we're all going to race to the bottom and me and my business partner were like, all right, cool. We have got to destroy everyone because we have first mover advantage. I understand this is a bit technical but the point is that instead of waiting for the market to sophisticate, you can just do it yourself and just take everyone because it's such a good offer. If she comes and says, I'll build your automations in 60 days and I will give you a full refund if it doesn't save you 5K, for example, we'd have to say that, everyone's going to take it. It's a wicked offer. Of course I'm going to build it. If there's pain and she can help, it's amazing and it's so much better than saying, AI automations. No one cares.

This is Alex Hormozi's value equation. So, dream outcome. We spoke about this before. So, dream outcome, if you're overweight, I know I keep talking about overweight people, I promise I'm not fat, but it's just an example. Okay. Or dating is getting five dates with beautiful girls or losing 30 pounds. That's a dream outcome. Cool? Perceived likelihood of achievement. This is almost like an invisible, this is almost like an invisible factor. So, if you say to someone, I'm going to make you a million dollars in 30 days and then make 1K a month, I'm not going to believe you. No one's like, do you know what I mean? It's not unbelievable. Next is time delay. Having things happen faster is more valuable. Do you want your shipping in 30 days or in 30 seconds or in 30 minutes? Grab would make no money if your food arrived in four hours. None of us would use it. Does that make sense? Cool. And then effort and sacrifice. This is typically around reducing risk and then having them do stuff that they don't want to do. So, for example, I'm going to use the, oh, weight loss is perfect. We will help you helping men between the age of 25 to 40 lose 30 pounds without running on the treadmill. I want to run the treadmill. I want to run the treadmill. Without running the treadmill. Bang. No effort and sacrifice. Do you see how it's more attractive?

My boy Fazio, they do $1.4 million a month. They have, they are, you guys, they're the top of the, they're the top of the market. They have a guarantee. They just removed it because they have so much social proof. But they had a, he tweeted this. He tweeted, I've never got an offer, a B2B offer, over 100K a month without a guarantee and I haven't seen anybody that has.

We guarantee a meeting with a whale client of your choice by seeing the most incredible creative outbound on earth, done for you, refund if we miss. That's my offer. This is my offer. And my boy, Fazio, who, the guy doing 1.4, he wrote this for me. We'll build your YouTube sales funnel and guarantee and at least an extra 10K a month where you don't pay and you only need to record once a month. This cooked. This did so well.

When they're on the sales call, if you're really scared of the refund, don't mention it. You don't have to mention the offer. You don't. Do you know how many people I have given a refund to on this offer? Zero. No one. Literally no one. The offer is to get them on the call. You can use this as a weapon. It's just weapons. You can use it as a weapon to close them and I've done it. But more often than not, if you do a good job and you're not a douche, they're not going to refund.

If you see someone in your market that's making money and it's cooking, take their offer. This offer was stolen from another dude who was killing it. I was at zero. He was a hundred. I copied it. And my mentor was like, just take this. And I ran it and it worked.

Next thing is scared of refunds. So, a lot of people are like, oh my God, I don't want to, I don't want to put refunds. And to be honest with you guys, like when I launched this, I haven't really launched it with pre-revenue, but when me and my business partner had this offer, because this, like this package, the lowest one's like 40 grand. And me and Aiden were like, damn, we really don't want to refund people. We really don't want to do that. But then we were like, all right, cool. We're going to put shit ton of stipulations.

So stipulations just means terms and conditions. So they have to, and put this in the contract, do A, B, C, X, Y, Z, E, F, G, like W, like make, like do A, B, C, and don't make it crazy. You have to jump off a plane, but just make it that you have to, for you guys, so I can, I can speak to you three specifically for a coaching program, watch at least 50% of the modules, attend at least 80% of the, at least 100% of the calls and go to, attend all the calls and then go to at least 50% of the calls over the course of a month. Be active in the community for at least two weeks. Like these are stipulations. If it's like, I want a refund, you say no, because contractually you didn't, you didn't hold your end of the bargain.

And the stipulation of contract, even if you get 50% more sales and three to 8% refunds, who cares? You netted more money and you will make so much more money. The next one is set targets and stick to them like your life depends on it. Okay? Business is a list of inputs. I hate going to the gym. I despise it. I've gone for 14 years but narcissistically I'm in great shape and the reason why is because I go five times a week no questions asked, okay? Your business has a list of targets that are similar.

So, literally, think about this. I think about LinkedIn 12 times a year. I think about YouTube 12 times a year because I do it in one day. Do you see how powerful that is? Everybody should have their metrics. And, like, you get, like, guys, like, you don't have to do 12 YouTube videos a month. That would be a horrible idea. You could do One a week. Or you could do one every two weeks. Again, it's like the gym. You can't lift 150 kilos. Like, it's okay to lift 10. But just stick to lifting 10. And then one day you raise to lift 20. And then one day you raise to lift 30. Do you see? Like, it'll compound. Okay, cool. But just set your metrics and then just stick to your life dependent, okay? If there's anything that's helped me stay in shape and scale, it's this.

Please do not switch off. This is ultimately the fundamental of what business really is, okay? Now, I'm going to imagine that most people won't have these metrics. And that's completely okay. I scaled to 20K a month without these metrics. But, that's not good, okay? It's not a good thing to do, okay? Ultimately, business is literally just maths, numbers, and economics. Everyone in this room has a net margin. Everyone in this room has a gross margin. Everyone in this room has a cost to acquire a customer. Whether you know it or not, it's completely irrelevant. It exists.

Your metrics exist whether you like it or not. Why are they so important? Because they tell you everything about your business and its ability to scale. So, metrics that are your friends, okay? So, I've got the definition, and we can ask questions, and we can go nice and slow. LTV, okay? Now, I'm going to break this down for every single one. LTV is, let's say, I have a client who pays me one grand a month, and they stay for 10 months. That's 10 grand lifetime value. Does that make sense? Lifetime is how much somebody spends over the entire life that they're with you, okay? That's their lifetime value.

Cost of goods sold, okay? We all have this, especially Catherine. She'll know about this. Being in DTC. Purpose. Measures how much it costs to fulfill the customer, okay? So, when we get someone in the door, it costs money to fulfill for them. So, even for Jessica, it takes, you have to do the launch. Maybe you have to hire videographers. Maybe you have to, it's your time as well. There's a bunch that goes into it. Do you want to even add some things that go into it? So, like, I'll do the full creative direction. Time. I'll set the model of location. Yeah. Do you see? Yeah. Cost of goods sold. So, we all have costs in order to fulfill for customers.

Lifetime gross profit. I personally hate LTV because I think it's a shit metric. Now, what lifetime gross profit is, it's lifetime revenue minus lifetime cost of goods sold. So, let's say, for example, I have a client. They stay for 10 months and they pay me one grand. The lifetime value is 10 grand. 1K, 10 months, 10 grand, right? Let's say it costs me four grand to service them. Staff, management, onboarding. That's crazy onboarding. You get the idea, right? So, 10K minus 4K equals six. That's my lifetime gross profit. Gross profit is profit minus cost of goods sold. Gross profit. And then lifetime is all the money that you amassed after you service them. That number exists.

Customer acquisition cost. How much does it cost to get them in the door? For Catherine, it will be 5, 10, 15, 20, 25 bucks. For you, thousands. Cool? Starbucks's cost to acquire customer, apparently, was like $10. And their LTV was like $15,000. No wonder Howard Schultz is a billionaire. Cool. LTGP to CAC ratio. Has anybody heard of this ratio in this room? Okay. If you watch any Hormozi content, he is going to go on about this a ton, okay? This is the ratio between how much money you make per customer and how much it costs to get that customer, okay? And the bigger the ratio is, the better.

So, everyone knows Alex Hormozi had gym launch, right? There were parts in the business, there were like days, months, whatever, where he was on 100 to 1. He spent 100K and he made like, someone do the math, he made like $100 million. Disgusting numbers. Of course you can scale.

So, then this ratio of lifetime gross profit and CAC exists, okay? And this tells you how much you can scale your business, all right? Because ultimately, when you get someone in the door, there's this economic term called contribution profits, how much that contributes to covering your costs or allowing you to go get more customers. So, the bigger this ratio is, the more customers you can go and acquire.

Net profit measures final profit remaining after all business expenses. Again, this number exists. This is easy. This is just, what's your take on? What goes into your pocket? How much goes into your pocket after all the costs? It's this. What goes into your bank account?

What are your gross margins? So, gross profit, this is the profit remaining after direct delivery costs, okay? This is, you get a customer, how much does it cost you to fulfill them? Gross profit equals revenue minus cost of goods sold. So, gross profit tells you how efficient your business is in fulfilling for that customer before fixed costs, overhead, all that other operating stuff. So, typical costs include fulfillment, delivery labor, hosting costs, production costs, etc. Gross profit matters because if you have stronger margins and you have more cash available for reinvestment and better scalability.

Are your gross margins 80%? So, Hormozi talks about this all the time and this came from, like, the tech world. The reason why we want to have gross margins 80% is so that we can go acquire more customers and we can cover the rest of our costs. So, like, think about it. Let's just, let's just, if I have an example, $6,000, $2,000 to fulfill, gross profit's $4,000. That's gross margin of 66%, okay? Sounds decent. You're like, oh, that's cool. It's all right. Example, if you have 100K in revenue and you have fulfillment cost of 34K and your gross profit is 66% margins and your operating costs, all the other costs are 54K, your net profit is 12%. That's kind of painful. I'm not saying 12K isn't great money, by the way. That's kind of painful. Like, you've just lost shit tonne of cash. 80, 88% gone. That's pain. Also, no one will ever buy that, by the way. No human, no rational human will ever buy that. Then you've got this person. 100K, fulfillment cost, gross profit 80%, gross profit 80K, gross margin 80%, operating cost, boom, 26 grand. Do you see how this person's making so much more money and they just bumped up their gross profit? Does that make sense? And, guys: taxes. Don't pay. So, that was a joke, for the record, as this goes on the internet. So, yeah, IRS, HMRC, it's a joke. So, yeah, and each incremental unit of your gross profit helps you with your net profit. That's very in the weeds, so I'm not going to go into that, but just get your gross profit margins up.

And do you know how you do it? Offers! Better offers help you get, better offers help you get better gross margins, okay? Amazing. Awesome. So, you need to get your gross margin, you need to, you need your gross margin to cover the rest of your costs, okay? I can't get to 80% gross margins. Improve your offer, brand, authority. If you have a commoditized service, then for sure you can't. This is why content, authority, brand, and positioning are so important and why you need to be brand maxing like crazy. Improve your authority, all right? It will decrease your CAC and it will improve, it'll just prove everything.

So, reduce your churn. I'm just going to go to the example because I think it will help people. So, if your churn is 50% and this is how people measure churn over months, okay? You can just learn this, it's just a chart, all right? It's just a chart, I promise it's not too crazy. Number of months, two months. Revenue, 5K. Lifetime value, 10K. Fulfilled cost, 6K. Gross profit, 6,000. So, after I've fulfilled, not, well, not in my pocket, I've got 6,000, okay? They stayed for two months, not great. I didn't do anything different, they just stayed longer. Look at my gross profit. So, if you take anything from this, work on making people stay.

But this essentially tells you how you're able to scale when you get a new customer, okay? If you have a LTGP CAC of 100 to 1, you can just spend infinite money. You don't care, because you just know you're going to make tons of money on the back end. Amazing. Poor business. 1K to get a customer. 5K lifetime value. Lifetime cogs, so to fulfill. This is it. 2 to 1. That's awful. This person probably can't eat. They can't scale. How can you scale? If anything goes wrong, if you can't fulfill for people or maybe onboarding goes wrong, you're dead. Your profit's gone. But then here, look at this person. 2 grand to get someone. This is what these two are playing with. This is what these guys should be having and they could have even higher. 2K to get someone, 20K lifetime value, fulfill 4 grand, 16K, 8 to 1. That is a business. And that means you can literally keep spending to go get more people because you know that if you spend 16 grand, you're going to get some customers for 2K. Keep spending, keep spending, keep spending because you just keep more people into the machine.

Cole Gordon talks about this. Every business can build this box with skill and it takes time. I'm still working on this constantly. How to decrease your CAC. Better offers, brand, high authority, affiliate programs, better targeting. How to increase your LTGP. Increase price. It's one of the best ways. Okay. It's one of the best levers. Yeah. You've got to. It's the strongest lever. Decrease costs of goods sold. If you decrease what it costs, you just make more profit. Cool. Increase purchase frequency. So Catherine has people buy drinks once a day instead of once a week. Increase lifetime gross profit. Cross sales. I just used you a ton here. Catherine has people buy Hero Focus and Hero Sleep. Up sales. Edgar's not here. God's sakes. Edgar upgrades someone from the 1K package to the 10K package. Down sales. Jessica has someone buy her low ticket 2K package instead of nothing at all.